NEW U.S. BORDER CROSSING RULE IS EASED

Pooley Refuses To Reveal Mysterious Cheque Used To Attack Bowser Group

Liberals Deny Opposition Leader's Statement That Well-known Conservative Is in Liberal Pay; Pooley Insists He Has Photographic Copy of Government Cheque Paid to Veteran Tory Here

The mystery of R. H. Pooley's "cheque charge," in an attempt to discredit W. J. Bowser's supporters, deepened to-day when the Conservative House leader refused to divulge further details of his allegation that a veteran Victoria Conservative was in the pay of the Liberal Party. While Mr. Pooley satisfied himself with reiterating this charge and declaring he had a photographic copy of this unnamed Conservative's Government pay cheque, Liberal leaders here flatly repudiated the story. The Liberal Party has not paid a cent to Conservatives to cause trouble in the Conservative Party, or for any other purpose, C. J. V. Spratt, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, asserted.

It was reported in Conservative circles that the cheque to which Mr. Pooley referred was one paid by the Liquor Board to a former employee, who was used as a secret service operator. But what this has to do with the Liberal Party was beyond the comprehension of both Liberals and Conservatives who were questioned on the matter.

STORY DENIED

"I am willing to wager Mr. Pooley that he cannot prove his statement that the Liberal Party has paid money to Conservatives," Mr. Spratt said. "This story is absolutely false. I do not know what Mr. Pooley has in his possession when he speaks of a photographic copy of a Government cheque paid to a Conservative, but the idea that the Liberal Party is subsidizing Conservatives for political purposes is without foundation."

Members of the Government who were questioned on the matter declined to comment on Mr. Pooley's allegations in any way.

BOWSER WING AROUSED

W. J. Bowser, K.C., former Conservative leader, was likewise silent. It was against friends of Mr. Bowser in Victoria that Mr. Pooley's charge was evidently directed during the Conservative Party convention in Vancouver last Saturday. Mr. Bowser said he had no desire to discuss the matter. Leaders of the Bowser group, which con-

FOREST FIRE LOSS CUT TO SMALL TOTAL

Damage and Expense For Fighting Fires During Year Set at $214,000

Forest fires cost British Columbia approximately $214,000 this year, or about ten per cent of the bill for 1926, according to official estimates released to-day by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands.

This year's loss included $60,000 in standing timber, compared with $433,000 last year, and $74,000 in forest products, buildings and equipment, or ten per cent of the 1926 figure. Fire fighting costs totaled slightly more than $80,000, the lowest figure since 1923, and far below the expense in 1925 and 1926, exceeding $500,000.

AREAS BURNED SMALLER

The total area burned over was 102,000 acres, the smallest figure since 1913. Merchantable timber destroyed covered 12,000 acres and totaled 42,000,000 feet. In addition 44,000,000 feet of green timber was destroyed but will be saleable for manufacturing purposes. The area of merchantable timber destroyed was the lowest since 1918. Valuable reproduction and young forests burned during the year are estimated at 19,000 acres, the smallest amount since 1921.

YEAR IS SATISFACTORY

The figures compiled by the Forest Branch of the Lands Department show that the season of 1927 was one of the most successful from the forest fire standpoint that has been experienced by the forest service.

A total of 1,284 fires was reported and handled. Of these eighty-eight per were controled within a limit of ten acres. This constitutes a high record in getting fires extinguished in their incipient stages. Fires to the number of 631 were controled by the ordinary rangers and their patrolmen, without the employment of additional help. Lightning is shown to have caused forty per cent of all the fires occurring. These fires, occurring, as they do, high up on the mountain slopes and in the back valleys, where transportation is difficult, add very materially to the difficulty and cost of fire control. Campers and travelers were shown to have caused twenty-seven per cent. This percentage is about the same as that attributed to this cause last year.

"It is by far too high and, if the user of the forest would only be careful with camp fires, cigarettes, and matches, the 300 fires attributed to

500 DEATHS IN ALGERIAN FLOODS

Food Dropped Into Villages By Planes; Disaster Widespread One

Oran, Algeria, Nov. 29.—With every hour bringing fresh tidings of disaster, it was estimated to-day the total loss of life in the floods which swept Northwetsern Algeria would exceed 500. The catastrophe is the worst experienced here in fifty years.

The situation throughout the district is still grave. The weather is bad. The water, while falling in some places ie rising in others. A torrential rainfall continues.

Communications have been cut everywhere. Rescue work is thus extremely difficult. Efforts have been made to drop food from aeroplanes in the stricken villages of the countryside.

At Mostaganem, where the worst damage was caused, 150 persons, including sixty Europeans, perished. Several are thought to have been drowned in the outlying districts.

ROADS IMPASSABLE

The railroad between Algiers and Oran was washed out at several points. The roads are impassable and many sections can be reached only by aeroplane. An unusual mass of water descended on the town of Lamiza, causing great damage there. The waters threaten to burst a dam and engulf Relizane. It is feared the flood-swept region will be found impossible for cultivation for at least five years.

Olmsted Starts Term In Prison

Ex-Police Lieutenant of Seattle to Spend Four Years in Penitentiary

Seattle, Nov. 29.—In the custody of two deputy marshals, Roy Olmsted, former police lieutenant of Seattle and convicted "rum baron" of the Pacific Northwest, to-day boarded an interurban train here on his way to the McNeil Island Federal prison to serve a four-year term.

Olmsted was convicted more than a year ago of liquor conspiracy and sentenced to the penitentiary, but fought the conviction until the United States Supreme Court last week refused to review his case. Two liquor conspiracy charges against him have not been tried.

Mrs. Elise Olmsted, his wife, and their small daughter, his aged father and mother and other relatives were among the group who bade the former police officer goodbye.

PATIENT STRUGGLES TO USE HIS MEMORY

Amnesia Victim in Montreal Says He Went There From Vancouver

Montreal, Nov. 29—The cloud hanging over the memory of a patient at the Ste. Anne de Bellevue Hospital here partially lifted last night when he remembered his name was Tudor William James, and not James Tudor as was at first thought.

He said his home was in Vancouver and that his age was thirty-eight.

He told Chief of Police Lepine he was a returned soldier, having served overseas with the First Battalion of the Royal Fusiliers as Thomas Davis and that his parents live at Cardiff, Wales.

James remembered that several days ago he left Vancouver by train. During the trip he made the acquaintance of a young man, who he believes left the train at Cornwall, Ont. They had a few drinks together. James does not remember anything from the time the train left Cornwall.

The hospital will keep the patient until he has fully recovered.

WORLD AEROPLANE ENDURANCE CONTEST WILL BE STAGED IN THE UNITED STATES

BERT ACOSTA

WILLIAM S. BROCK

MACHINES TUNED TO DECIDE WHICH WINS WORLD FAME

New York, Nov. 29.—Four aeroplanes, two of them manned by transatlantic fliers, to-day are being groomed in the United States for endurance flights in efforts to break the world record of fifty-two hours eleven minutes, set last Summer by two German fliers.

William S. Brock and Edward Schlee, who conquered the Atlantic and then flew across Europe and Asia to Japan in their Stinson-Detroiter monoplane, "Pride of Detroit," plan to leave Detroit in a day or two for Daytona, Fla., where they intend to make their endurance flight attempt.

At Curtiss Field, New York, a Fokker Universal aeroplane is being made ready for a test. Bert Acosta, one of Commander Byrd's pilots on his transatlantic flight is prepared to pilot the plane, with Emile Burgin as his relief. Acosta and Clarence Chamberlin last Summer set the United States record of fifty-one hours.

Two other planes, the Stinson Detroiter monoplane to be piloted by George Weis Jr. and Lewis Solomon and the "dark horse" entry, a Fairchild cabin monoplane, are undergoing final tests preparatory to endurance flights.

The "Dream Ship," A. A. Martine's Bellanca monoplane, with which an attempt was to have been made at the endurance mark, has been entered, its owner announced, in the Dallas-Hongkong flight for which a prize of $30,000 has been offered by businessmen of the Texas City.

FLIN FLON MINING PLANS ARE APPROVED

Announcement of Capitalists' Agreement With Ottawa and Manitoba Awaited

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Announcement of the completion of details in connection with the Flin Flon mining development scheme is expected in political circles to be made within the next forty-eight hours.

A meeting of directors of the Canadian National Railways is scheduled to be held in Montreal to-day, at which a report of Vice-president S. J. Hungerford respecting the proposed eighty-four-mile railway line into the Flin Flon district will be discussed.

It is understood a meeting of the Whitney interests of New York and certain mining interests in Northern Manitoba will also be held in Montreal to-day regarding an option held by the Whitney group, which will expire on Thursday.

OPTIMISM VOICED

Winnipeg, Nov. 29.—An optimistic message concerning the development of Northern Manitoba and especially the valuable mineral field in the Flin Flon area in The Pas district, was delivered last night by Premier John Bracken in an address to members of the Winnipeg Board of Trade. He said:

Manchurian Railway Is Seeking Loan

Tokio, Nov. 29.—The proposed loan of $30,000,000 to the South Manchurian Railway by J. P. Morgan & Company is at present only in the conversation stage, Jotaro Yamamoto, president of the railroad, told the Associated Press to-day.

He said he understood the State Department of the United States had no objections to it, and that no proposal had been made so far either by the Morgan Company or by the railroad.

YEAR'S PROGRESS CHEERS FARMERS AT PARLEY HERE

Institute Movement Making Big Progress, Island Convention Told

Farmers from all over Vancouver Island assembled at the Parliament Buildings to-day to discuss agricultural problems and plan representations to the Legislature. They met in the Maple Room as representatives of Farmer's Institutes of many districts on Vancouver Island and contiguous islands, twenty delegates being present.

The Farmer's Institute movement has made highly satisfactory progress in the last year and is getting important results for the agricultural industry of the Island, to-day's annual convention was told as it was opened by C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, secretary of the Advisory Board to the Institutes and representative of District A, comprising Vancouver and adjoining islands. The unanimous re-election of Mr. Griffiths was the first business of to-day's meeting.

SOLVING PROBLEMS

"The Farmers' Institutes of the Island are taking hold of local problems instead of sending them to the Advisory Board," Mr. Griffiths said in presenting his detailed report. "Much good work has been accomplished along these lines and in addition the institutes are co-operating with other bodies in securing local improvements.

"It will be realized that we are making excellent progress and that practically ninety per cent of the legislation we requested has been put on the statute books. There is a distinct improvement in the conditions in all agricultural districts and the increase in production is more than maintained.

Scores of shots were fired and tear bombs used.

SPECTACULAR AFFAIR

The capture brought to an end one of the most spectacular fights in the memory of the police of the East Dedham division. One of the negro men was seriously wounded.

CONSTRUCTION WORK IS TO BE STARTED ON HOTEL IN VANCOUVER

Federal Cabinet Approves of Agreement Between C.N.R. System and Terminal City

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—The order-in-council authorizing the agreement between the city of Vancouver and the Canadian National Railways was passed by the Cabinet at Ottawa this forenoon. A telegram to this effect was received by Mayor L. D. Taylor from Hon. J. H. King.

The effect of this agreement will be that work on the big Canadian National Railway hotel will be started in 1928, as well as the False Creek flats reclamation work, it is stated.

TO LAY OUT MUCH MONEY

Stating the modified C.N.R. agreement as approved by the Federal Cabinet will mean the expenditure by the railway system in Vancouver during the next four years of at least $7,000,000, Mayor Taylor expressed his delight that the two years of negotiations which at times had reached a very critical stage should have terminated so successfully.

FINDS CHRISTIANS OF ORIENT WANT A UNITED CHURCH

Rev. Dr. J. Endicott, Moderator of United Church, in Victoria To-day

Has Optimistic Outlook as to Result of Present Chaos in China; Speaks To-night

"Christians of India and China are praying night and day for a united church similar to that wonderful organization now functioning in Canada," said Rev. Dr. James Endicott, Moderator of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, who arrived in Victoria this morning during the course of a tour of the Dominion.

Dr. Endicott's present trip will occupy him for about two months, after which he will return to his headquarters at Toronto. Soon after the arrival of the New Year the Moderator will leave to visit the missions of Trinidad, whence he will go on to Jerusalem to attend an international mission meeting there next March. From the Holy City he will continue his world-wide journey to visit the United Church mission field in Portuguese East Africa. Dr. Endicott returned recently from an eight months' tour of the mission fields of India, China, Korea, Manchuria and Japan.

As a result of his Oriental tour, Dr. Endicott discovered that the foreign missions are absolutely in favor of a united church. The big cry of Christians of India and China is that having been given Christianity they are torn apart by the various denominations, Dr. Endicott stated. These people look upon the formation of the United Church of Canada as the first step towards a world-wide movement, he continued.

MARKETING ACT CASE IS HEARD

Grand Forks, Nov. 29.—The validity of the Produce Marketing Act was not argued by the defence when evidence was heard against John A. Coleman, a fruit grower of Grand Forks, on a charge of having shipped a carload of fruit on October 12 without having a license for so doing from the Interior tree fruit and vegetable committee of direction. Decision was reserved by Magistrate J. A. McCallum until December 1 at 2.30 p.m.

The prosecution called D. L. Pogson, secretary of the committee of direction, E. F. Laws of Grand Forks, local representative of the committee, and G. B. Garrett, local Canadian Pacific Railway freight agent.

Diamond Robbery In Windsor, Ont.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 29.—Louis Poncer, forty, of D'Arcy Street, Toronto, a diamond dealer, was throttled and robbed of a wallet containing $10,000 worth of gems about 5.30 o'clock this morning, just as he was leaving the C.N.R. station here, where he had been in the habit of keeping his wallet in one of the station safety deposit boxes. Poncer was unable to describe the robbers beyond the fact that they were clean-shaven and young. He thinks he was trailed from Toronto.

'WHITE SHIRTS' NEW FORCE IN MEXICO

Object of New Organization Is to Uphold Policies of Calles Administration

Mexico City, Nov. 29—A nation-wide military body to uphold the policies of the Calles administration is to be organized throughout Mexico. Similar in purpose to the Black Shirts, the followers of Premier Mussolini in Italy, it has been suggested that the Mexican militants be termed the "White Shirts."

By the formation of these "White Shirts," the newly organized League for Revolutionary Defence intends to strengthen its hand against what it terms the reactionaries. The farmers throughout the country and other residents would be organized under military lines.

POLYNESIAN ISLAND WANTS TENNIS PLAYER TO BE KING

St. Denis, Reunion Island, Nov. 29.—Allen J. Gerbault, internationally known French tennis player who has a penchant for making solitary ocean voyages in tiny sailing craft, has been chosen by the natives of a little Polynesian Island to become their king—and there is a possibility he may accept.

That was the news received to-day at St. Denis from the little island of Rodriguez in the Indian Ocean, where Gerbault and his sloop, Firecrest, stopped for rations for his trip around the world.

Gerbault would not give much information, but let it be known he intends to finish his voyage and then in a new sloop even smaller than the forty-foot ten-ton Firecrest, to start again for the Pacific. He hopes to obtain a concession from the French Government for the native island which wants him as king. The name of this island is not given.

Gerbault arrived in New York from France in a forty-foot boat in 1923, being made a member of the French Legion of Honor for his exploit. He then made a voyage to Australia and several other trips to South Sea Islands.

Workers Resident In Canada Not Barred From U.S.

State and Labor Department Officials at Washington Agree on Solution of Difficulties; Little Formality With Native-born Canadians Crossing Daily; Way Also Cleared for Non-native-born Residents of This Country

Washington, Nov. 29.—Officials of the Department of State and the Labor Department of the United States are understood to have found a workable solution for the Canadian border crossing difficulties arising out of the new immigration order covering the subject which will go into effect December 1.

The details of the inter-department conversations have not been made public, but early announcement is expected to make it clear that foreign-born Canadians who cross the border into Detroit and other cities daily to their employment and who have sought to comply with the requirements of the United States immigration laws will suffer no serious hardships after December 1.

The new immigration order on its face would have denied Canadian non-born residents border privileges until such time as they had obtained quota visas charged against the immigration quotas of the country of their birth.

PERMITS ISSUED

The difficulties for native-born Canadians were removed some time ago when they were informed they could cross freely to their work daily by applying for papers of identification which will in reality be permits.

YOUTHS CONFESS MAIL ROBBED IN TRAIN WRECK

Three Who Were at Dockrill, Ontario, After Collision Come Before Magistrate

Enterprise, Ont., Nov. 29.—Tomorrow at Napanee sentences will be passed on three youths of Tichborne, Ontario, who have pleaded guilty to looting the mail bags strewn about the ground after the collision between the Montreal-Chicago express and a freight train on the C.P.R. main line at Dockrill Siding, near here. They are Fred and Gordon Dermott and Floyd Kennedy.

INQUEST IS OPENED

On December 12 the inquest which was opened yesterday by Dr. G. M. Cowan of Napanee will be resumed here, when it is hoped Engineer Bradford, now in the Smith's Falls hospital, will be able to testify. He was engineer on the freight train.

SEVEN DEATHS

The death list of the wreck stood at seven to-day as workers resumed the task of clearing the wreckage. Yesterday they had thrust the debris clear from the line that service might be resumed, but there still remained huge piles of twisted iron and steel and broken and charred woodwork by the embankment. The remnants of the locomotives were being cut up to-day for removal, torches being used.

The names of two of the victims remain unknown, the charred body of a foreign woman and the leg of a child affording scant possibility of identification. Of the other five, the four fellow victims of Engineer William Burnett were tentatively identifed as Frederick Rischur, Aaron Topp, bound for Meaford, Ont.; Wilhelm Bauer,

CANADA-U.S. WATER BOARD'S POWER IS QUESTIONED IN B.C.

Jurisdiction Debated When International Joint Commission Sits at Nelson

Nelson, Nov. 29—At the opening session of the International Joint Commission here this morning, held for the purpose of hearing the application of the Creston Reclamation Company for permission to reclaim 8,600 acres of land adjacent to Creston, on the Kootenay Flats, by diking the area to a height of fifteen feet above the 1916 low water, a sensation was sprung when C. B. Garland, counsel for the company, took the position the commission had no jurisdiction to decide between claimants on one side of the Canadian-United States boundary unless important effects would be felt on the other side.

He took the position that interests exclusively on one side were domestic matters to be dealt with by the Federal and Provincial Governments. He asserted the company's proposed works would have a slight but no detrimental effect south of the line.

The commission decided to have Mr. Garland open his case, when it would be in a better position to consider the question of its jurisdicton.

SETS PRECEDENT

C. A. Magrath, charman of the Canadian section, in opening the session, pointed out it was the first ever held by the commission west of the Rockies.

Interests represented include the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, the Federal Department of the Interior, the Federal Indian Department, the Public Works Department of Canada, the Lands Department of British Columbia, the State of Idaho, the Great Northern Railway and J. B. Winlaw Company, lumber operators.

RUSSIA NOW SHIPS LUMBER TO THE U.S.

New York, Nov. 29.—The National Lumber Manufacturers' Association of the United States reports recent arrivals of shipments of Russian spruce and white pine at Atlantic seaports have caused considerable agitation in lumber markets.

"These shipments represent attempts by the Soviet Government to introduce Russian lumber to the unprotected United States market, and are said to be the beginning of a predicted annual importation of 100,000,000 feet," the statement said. "Because of cheap labor, low ocean freight rates and the fact that the timber is directly on tidewater, it is believed Russian lumber can more than favorably compete with American lumber on price basis."

The first cargo of 2,500,000 feet of rough pine and spruce was unloaded a few weeks ago at Port Newark, N.J.

NEW METAL IS STRONG AND LIGHT

New York, Nov. 29.—A new alloy, said to be three times as strong as iron and as light as aluminum, was brought to this country yesterday by its inventor, Dr. Max Wurmbach, professor of metallurgy in the University of Munich. The alloy, "neonaleum," Dr. Wurmbach claims, is the most important discovery of the kind since the invention of duralumin in 1907. A piano made of neonaleum, he said, would be so light it could be picked up by a small boy.

ALBERTA M.P.P.'S TO DISCUSS RAILWAYS

Premier Brownlee Hopes to Have Offer For Lines to Lay Before Legislature

Calgary, Nov. 29.—Negotiations which may develop during the next month with respect to Alberta's northern railways may make it advisable to delay the opening of the forthcoming session of the Alberta Legislature so that any agreement arrived at could be presented to the members for their approval, but present indications are that the opening will be fairly early in January, Premier J. E. Brownlee announced in an interview last evening. He said he had not yet definitely chosen the date, but he was considering a day early in the month.

Speaking of the northern railways, Mr. Brownlee said that although he could not yet say any definite offer for the railways had been made by either or both of the transcontinental railway companies, he said he could announce the railways were showing greater interest.

"I am hoping a better offer will be made," he said.

When in the East Mr. Brownlee met both Sir Henry Thornton and E. W. Beatty and on one occasion met Sir Henry in conference with Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways.

Island Holds Monopoly Of Bulb Production For All Canada, Says Expert

E. M. Straight of Experimental Farm Declares Vancouver Island Has Big Future in Bulb and Seed Field; Growers From All Parts Mingle to Discuss Possible Plans for Co-operative System; All Optimistic

Research work on the part of the Dominion Experimental Farm in Saanich has determined that Vancouver Island can produce a healthier, better quality bulb than any of the European products which for years have been the great factors in the world's bulb markets, according to a statement made by E. M. Straight at the meeting of Island seed and bulb producers with the special committee of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce which met last night to consider ways and means of furthering this industry.

According to Mr. Straight, director of the Experimental Farm, whose efforts for the past few years have been directed particularly along the lines of bulb and seed production and the prevention of disease among these growths, comparisons of the locally grown bulbs which had been sent by him to every experimental farm in Canada, had shown that in 95 per cent of the cases the Canadian bulbs were superior in every way to the very best that Europe could produce.

SUPERIOR VARIETY

"Vanocuver Island and a little strip of the mainland has a monopoly on the bulb business for the entire Dominion of Canada," said Mr. Straight. His assertion was greeted with applause. There were few spots in Canada where bulbs could be grown with any success at all, he went on, but Vancouver Island had proved that its output was of a distinctly superior variety.

CHINA BIG FIELD

From Frederick Cousins, local retail grower, came the assertion that in China he had hopes of seeing the development of a big field for Canadian bulbs. By that he meant Vancouver Island commodities, he said.

L. E. Taylor, of the Dominion Horticultural Association, who stated that he was going into lily growing on a large scale here, said the demand for this bulb in England and the United States was almost unlimited. From what he could gather, he said, there was no chance of the growers of the West securing any embargo on foreign bulbs and seeds, but they might well expect to receive favorable consideration for a request for action under the Anti-Dumping Act on the part of the Federal authorities to assist their industry, he was certain.

There were a dozen men, all of them experts in their particular lines of seed and bulb production, who spoke to the meeting.

HOLLAND FACES PROBLEM

Mr. Straight, rose a second time, to inform the meeting that of the 7,000,000 bulbs shipped through Ottawa from Europe last year about a third were turned down as unfit for use because of disease. Holland, the great bulb producing nation, was facing a serious problem in the disease of her crops. The land, apparently, was bad, he said. Disease was creeping in and getting a grave and threatening hold upon the industry. He was working, with the authorities on the Experimental Farm, to find remedies and means of prevention for disease in Canadian bulb farms, he said. Considerable progress had been made, he added.

He pointed out that bulb growing was an extremely technical work. There were very few persons in British Columbia qualified to enter the business at all, he thought. It was something that demanded expert care and consistent labor, experiment and development.

VICTORIA INTERESTED

At the outset, Archie Muir, president of the Junior Chamber, pointed out that the body he represented was ready to lend every assistance to the bulb and seed producers of Vancouver Island along whatever lines they might suggest could be followed. He, and the organization, he said, realized that the growth of Victoria was vitally concerned with the development of the territory immediately adjacent to it, and, as a matter of fact, with the progress of the whole of Vancouver Island. The bulb and seed industry, he stated, was one which suggested immense possibilities and one which could not be encouraged to too great an extent, and offered the assurance of the co-operation of the Junior Chamber with the producers.

W. T. Straith, chairman of the special committee appointed to call the organization and "get-together" meeting of last night, took charge of the meeting. He reiterated the sentiments of Mr. Muir, pointing out that there was a possibility that growers might be interested in co-operative marketing or some other such scheme, and calling for discussion of the subject. The closer organization of Vancouver Island growers, he said, was to him of first importance.

"We are anxious to do all we can to help you," said Mr. Straith. He suggested various means of advertising the commodities of the Island as a whole. There were a number of communications from growers outlining suggestions which could be followed which were read and which Mr. Straith introduced.

DISCUSS EMBARGO

The growers then entered the discussion. Mr. Cousins made his statement regarding the China market, urged an embargo on foreign bulbs and pointed to the lack of trade which local stores gave local growers.

Capt. Mathews expressed the opinion that a co-operative system among growers was impossible. The bulb business was growing in leaps and bounds in British Columbia, he said. The industry was actually scarcely ten years old, and there was no need for complaint as to growth. Concerning embargo, he said, he had no use for it. The export market was the big consideration, he thought. By losing an export market growers would lose the greater volume of their business. He was particularly interested in seeds, Capt. Mathews said. What he said might not be applicable so much to the bulb industry.

It was a little too early to think of establishing a clearing-house for seed, said J. Travis. Production was a little too slow to supply the demand, so far as his experience went, he said. Quality, he pointed out, could not be discerned on sight. Seeds and bulbs had to prove their value. B.C. had no monopoly. The Province had to face world competition from men who were skilled and experienced at the business.

"Specialization in one thing is a life work for a single grower," said this speaker. "That is a thing which we all should remember."

"The world will beat a path to your door once you achieve the necessary quality," Mr. Travis said.

QUALITY FIRST

"There is a good market for anything we can grow in the better varieties of bulbs," said D. D. McTavish. "We cannot produce enough to supply the demand. That is a fact. We must specialize," he added. Mr. McTavish is a specialist in gladiolii and referred to that bulb particularly.

The same situation existed with tulip bulb growing, said Col. A. W. Woods. He took exception to the price-cutting of producers of bulbs. He had been told, he said, by good authorities, that his Gordon Head bulbs were better than anything which had come out of Holland in the past twenty-five years.

"I contend," he said, "that our Vancouver bulbs are far ahead of the Holland varieties without any doubt." Organization of growers to secure the control of the market and the product of Island and British Columbia bulbs was a first essential, Col. Woods contended. While it was impossible to compete with Holland, selling bulbs at $3 a thousand, an embargo could and should be placed on Holland-grown bulbs, but not on the English products.

N. B. Pollock asserted that certainly the industry was growing fast enough. What he feared, he said, was that many would rush into the bulb business without realizing the expense, the labor and the experience required to achieve any degree of success. However, all the growers of British Columbia could not supply one eastern Canadian house at present.

"If we cannot put the bulb industry on its feet without calling for help from the Government, we ought to drop the thing altogether," Mr. Pollock stated. Furthermore, he added, the growers of this Province could never get an embargo on foreign bulbs and seeds.

SPECIALIZATION

George Watson, lily grower, said that specialization was essential. He agreed with the others who had made the same assertion. He did believe that if United States insisted on an embargo and had found it beneficial, it would be well for Canada to do the same thing.

Information as to markets and supply and demand was necessary to growers, said Mr. Palmer, and he thought that the Chamber of Commerce could assist a great deal in this matter. Exhibitions were of great value also, he added and should be encouraged.

P. R. Leighton backed up the remarks of Mr. Palmer, insisting that the public support should be more emphatic. Through flower shows much could be done to increase business and advertise the local products.

Mr. Neal of Cowichan district stated that growers should run no risk in placing an embargo on foreign bulbs. He contradicted Mr. Watson's suggestion that an embargo had served United States well. It had done harm, he thought. Variety and specialization were the big things in bulb growing, he said. It was up to the growers to find their own markets through advertising.

A Summer show was one of the best means of obtaining publicity, said this speaker. He advocated this, to be held some time in the latter part of August.

Suggestion was made by Mr. Bennet that the best way of securing publicity was through shows on the prairies.

BRIGHT FUTURE

George Robinson, Elk Lake seed grower, expressed a certain optimism for the future of the seed industry in Victoria and district. Local seeds being undersold by foreign producers were in a hopeless position. He sought and found his market outside of Canada, he asserted. But despite that fact, he was hopeful, even certain, he said, of success. Anything good in the line of vegetable seed could be sold. He mentioned a James Island producer who was doing well in the retail trade.

Although local producers could beat California when it came to vegetable seed quality, they could not do so in regard to price, so that a duty was desirable. But he questioned whether Eastern Canadian buyers would tolerate a duty of any sort.

In conclusion, Mr. Straith asserted that the Junior Chamber was ready and willing to co-operate with the growers, and that from the discussion there were somethings very clear in his mind, some lines which ought to be followed. That the young bulb and seed industry was in a flourishing condition was a fact, he said, and that the outlook was bright was accepted. It remained, he thought, to devise a system of closer unity among growers, a co-operation which would result in the ultimate greater power of the Vancouver Island producers and a ready supply for the biggest demands which could be made upon them.

Mr. Muir added his assurance to that of Mr. Straith that the organization of which he was president was fully in support of their industry and ready and willing to assist in any way. The committee, he said, had been given a vast amount of food for thought through hearing the discussion during the meeting.

Mr. Muir said he was particularly impressed with the optimism of the growers.

A vote of thanks was passed by those present for the interest manifested by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the representatives of that organization were heartily thanked.

DIPHTHERIA IMMUNIZATION

To the Editor:—In reply to a warning issued by the Anti-Vivisection Society to Saanich parents against diphtheria immunization, which appeared in last Friday's Times, would you permit me the following reply:

The question of diphtheria immunization has been so frequently and so well thrashed out in Great Britain, Canada and the United States that there is absolutely no doubt remaining regarding its efficiency and safety.

When such organizations as the United States Public Health Service and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company advocate its use, I do not think that much is necessary to refute a statement of such uncritical nonsense as the one made to frighten the public.

I am appending herewith a copy of a statement made by one of the foremost public health men on the continent.

In conclusion, permit me to state that my own personal experience in immunizing over 5,000 children against diphtheria, and also observing them for over a year, leaves no doubht whatever in my mind as to the efficiency of this procedure.

Reactions, such as sore arms or any other illness in children following the administration of the treatment, is so rare as not to be worthy of mention. As far as predisposing to cancer, heart disease or deterioration of the human species, I may say that the statements are absolutely unfounded.

Toxin-antitoxin is now widely used in North America and Europe, even in Australia, and a great campaign is being carried out now in Great Britain, for description of which let we refer to The London Times weekly edition of April 7, 1927.

As to the danger of the preparation, I may say that it is non-existent at the present time, for before any preparation now used by the medical profession is put on the market, it is scrupulously tested, chemically and biologically, and then passed on by the ministries of health of the country.

TOXIN-ANTITOXIN CRITICS SCORED

Misuse of Half Truths About Diphtheria Preventive Draws States Health Department Fire

IT HAS CUT DEATHS HERE

Immunization Campaign in Auburn Has Wiped Out Diphtheria There, Says Statement

Dr. Matthias Nicoll Jr., Commissioner of the New York State Department of Health, has had issued from his department a statement concerning the use of toxin antitoxin for the prevention of diphtheria in which it is asserted that he "believes that the public should be informed of the whole truth" about the matter. It is explained that Dr. Nicoll's views are in contradistinction to "some of the half truths" which have been promulgated and disseminated recently in this state.

"Recently there have appeared in various newspapers in New York State," the statement begins, "articles deprecating the use of toxin antitoxin for the prevention of diphtheria. From the similarity of the statements made and in view of the fact that they appeared almost simultaneously in widespread communities it is reasonable to suppose that they had a common source. There is little likelihood that the newspapers in question will have any great influence in deterring parents from permitting their children to receive toxin antitoxin."

VACATED HIS OWN ORDER

"One of the points stressed in all this publicity," the statement goes on, "was the fact that on October 15, 1925, Judge A. T. Cole issued a temporary injunction restraining the Board of Education and the city health officer of Fargo, N.D., from in any manner using or attempting to use the said Schick test upon the children of Fargo, or from expending or agreeing to expend any public funds therefore.' It is true that such an order was issued, but the further fact is the order was vacated by the same justice on October 27, the delay being due in part to the fact that the justice was away from the city for a few days following his original action. The original injunction was asked by a local chiropractor, only, according to Dr. B. K. Kilborne, health officer of Fargo, 'at the final hearing set for November 9 nothing further appeared, and apparently the parties making the complaint had evidently been seeking only publicity.'

"According to the press accounts 'the complaint' (on which the Fargo injunction was sought) sets forth in regard to the Schick test and toxin antitoxin that in many places in the United States and England the administration of this remedy has resulted in almost instant death to great numbers of children on whom the injections were made, and in Dallas, Texas, alone, more than seventy suits for damages were instituted against the school board and the manufacturers of this remedy, resulting in a million dollars judgments to the parents, but which did not restore the lives of the innocent victims."

"GREATEST NUMBER" WAS THIRTEEN

"On investigation it has been found that the 'great numbers' of children mentioned as dying amounted to thirteen, six in Dalals, Texas, and seven in Vienna, Austria, the deaths in the latter city evidently been overlooked by the antagonists of toxin antitoxin. Although there may have been cases of instant death, they occurred several days subsequent to the administration of the toxin antitoxin, and were instant only inasmuch as all death is instant. Such a tragedy should not be belittled, but neither should facts be stretched to make the situation more horrible than it was.

"Furthermore, Dr. Lane B. Cook, health officer of Dallas, reports that about forty suits for damages resulted from this sad affair, and he further states that all were settled out of court. This is a long way from 'seventy suits,' and 'million dollars judgments.' The truths of the matter is that these fatalities were all due to the fact that one particular lot of toxin antitoxin was not subject to certain tests which to-day are invariably used. It is practically impossible for such an accident even to be repeated in this country.

SEES 2,350 LIVES SAVED

"Again, according to the same press accounts, the complaint stated that 'the said Schick test and the toxin antitoxin is pure unadulterated quackery and a survival of fetish superstition, perpetrated upon the credulous public by those actuated by mercenary motives and by public servants, who are either ignorant of the dangers concealed in this insipid prescription, or who are anxious to sponsor any remedy that 'they hope' may be absolute guarantee against diphtheria, and thus demonstrate that their particular office is useful and necessary.

"The facts are that the use of toxin antitoxin is not a survival of fetish superstition; it is one of the most modern achievements of preventive medicine. In New York city, where immunization with toxin antitoxin has been carried out on more or less of a mass scale during the past few years, the average mortality per 100,000 population during the years of 1920 to 1924 inclusive was 13.9, while the average for the preceding five-year period was 22. This difference in death rate means a saving of about 2,350 lives.

"In Auburn, N.Y., a city of about 35,000 people, where intensive work has been carried on under the direction of the State Health Department, diphtheria has been practically eliminated. In that city during the eight years, 1915 to 1922, there had been an average of nine deaths a year. In March of the latter year an aggressive campaign for immunization by taxin antitoxin was begun. Now that sufficient time has elapsed the results of this campaign leave no doubt but that diphtheria can be completely wiped out of any community. Since January 1923—ten months after the first children were injected—there have been but four deaths from diphtheria, three in 1923 and one in March, 1924. There has not been a single death from diphtheria in Auburn in over twenty months.

"If these results indicate 'mercenary motives,' 'ignorance' and an effort on the part of health officers to justify their positions, all of them should be glad to plead guilty to the indictment."

Among males, only two diseases heart and tuberculosis, cause more deaths than do accidents.

FLIN FLON MINING PLANS ARE APPROVED

"The Flin Flon mining area may become the great copper producing territory of the continent, and may well be the scene of a greater development in Manitoba than anyone now living has seen."

The development of the Flin Flon area, sixty miles northwest of The Pas, would mean a total investment of somewhere near $30,000,000, said the Premier, "and all we have to assure the developing interests of is $500,000."

The Manitoba Government has agreed to guarantee possible deficits up to $100,000 annually for five years on the railway which will be built into the district.

Premier Bracken outlined the great mineral wealth of the Flin Flon area, in which he said had been located 80,000,000 tons of copper ore, 80,000,000 tons of zinc ore, 32,000,000 tons of gold ore and 16,000,000 tons of silver ore. In addition there were pulpwood and power resources.

Mr. Bracken indicated the value of the Flin Flon resources by reference to the Trail, B.C., smelter, whose annual output is $32,000,000—"as much as the wheat crop of Manitoba will produce this year"—and added that the Flin Flon's output would probably be still greater.

The Flin Flon smelter, he said, would be a custom plant, available for the use of other mining enterprises in the district.

The greater part of the Flin Flon area is in Manitoba, only a small part lying on the Saskatchewan side of the boundary.

tions live along the populous Ontario side of the Detroit River.

Detroit, Nov. 29.—Barring intervention from Washington, an immigration order excluding approximately 1,000 Canadian residents employed in Detroit from entry into this country will be put into effect Thursday, according to C. L. Smith, acting United States district attorney here.

The announcement followed the refusal of United States District Judge Charles S Simons here yesterday to grant an injunction restraining two Federal immigration officers from enforcing the Government's rule, which will apply to alien commuters from Mexico and Canada alike.

The decision of Judge Simons resulted from a suit brought by Walter and Ellen Gammon of Windsor, Ont., calling upon L. Zurbick, acting district director of immigration, and A. H. Doig, chief inspector, to show cause why an injunction should not be issued preventing them from interfering with the travel of alien commuters in Canada working in the United States.

Of the injured in the Western Hospital, Toronto, reports to-day are that all are out of danger but the thirteen-year-old Polish boy, Chuny Awerbuch, who, though in a serious condition, was slightly improved to-day.

The others are expected to leave the hospital within a few days. Some already have been dismissed.

The mail clerk, who was in the accident, although badly injured, stayed at work until late Sunday evening trying to get the mail loaded into cars.

FREIGHT OVERRAN SWITCH

Toronto, Nov. 29—A very brief official summary of the cause of the Canadian Pacific Railway train wreck at Dockrill siding, fifty-six miles west of Smith's Falls, Sunlay afternoon came yelterday from Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters here.

"The accident," it stated, "was due to second No. 910 eastbound (the freight train) overrunning the railway switch at Dockrill. It tried to back, but before anything could be done No. 19 came along and struck it."

The freight train was loaded with grain.

trols the Conservative Party machinery in Victoria indicated, however, that they would get to the bottom of the mystery. They will avail themselves of Mr. Pooley's offer to reveal privately to Conservatives the photographic copy of the cheque which he has in his possession. Meanwhile the identity of the person to whom the cheque is made payable is being kept a deep secret.

REITERATES CHARGE

"I am not going to give out any more information about the cheque," Mr. Pooley said this morning when he was questioned about his statements in Vancouver. "All I care to say at this stage is that the person to whom the cheque is made payable has always been regarded as an old-time Conservative. This man has been in the pay of the Liberal Party. That is what I told the Conservative convention and I repeat it. What I have in my possession is a photographic copy of his pay cheque and it is a Government cheque. The photographic copy I have shows the face of the cheque and the endorsement on the back of it."

With the Bowser wing incensed over Mr. Pooley's allegations, it was generally expected in political circles to-day that the mystery of the cheque charge would be plumbed further until the name of the unidentified person was revealed.

FOREST FIRE LOSS CUT TO SMALL TOTAL

this cause might be prevented and a real menace to the future of our forests eliminated," said an official statement given out by the Forest Branch.

"Unquestionably the favorable weather was a considerable aid in reducing fire expenditures and losses. At the same time, the season developed several periods of intense fire hazard and the record set up was only accomplished through the forest rangers and their assistants being constantly on the alert to get on the fires and get them extinguished, while they were small. The assistance rendered by the honorary wardens and other members of the public in reporting fires to the ranger staff has been a most valuable aid in this connection."

Weeds Act, establishment of field crop competitions and the absolute necessity of a clear understanding regarding the administration of the Game Act. It is quite time that the farmers cleared this very unsatisfactory situation up. Until there are drastic changes, the same unnecessary complaints will continue to come in. This causes dissatisfaction and keeps the producer unsettled.

"I feel well satisfied with the progress made last year and that if the delegates continue to sustain interest and take care of the matters laid before them, we shall have no serious difficulty in securing the adoption of the remedies advanced. Thanking you for the loyal support in the past year."

GAME PROBLEMS

Mr. Griffiths' report recounted in detail the success of the institutes in securing legislation at the last session of the Legislature. He said the game situation in the province from the standpoint of farmers "is anything but satisfactory," and that destruction of crops by deer and pheasants still continues.

"The permit system is still in force and should be abolished as far as actual farmers resident on the land is concerned," he declared.

Regarding sheep protection he said: "A new act was brought down and contains all the suggestions advanced through the Farmers' Institutes and is now operating in a very satisfactory manner throughout the Province. The sheep industry is receiving every attention and a special programme is being laid out for next year. The delegates are familiar with the result of the first Sheep Fair held at Duncan. Delegates from sheep associations have been invited to attend this convention and discuss sheep problems."

TO FRAME REPRESENTATIONS

To-day's meeting will discuss agricultural problems generally and make recommendations to the Advisory Board of the Farmers' Institutes for the whole Province, which will commence its annual session here Thursday morning. Game administration and the question of Oriental penetratio nwill be two of the chief subjects discussed to-day.

CHINESE SITUATION

Dr. Endicott has an exceedingly optimistic outlook on the present Chinese situation. He has spent seventeen years in China besides having made numerous visits to the country. Speaking generally about Asia he said the whole country is in a state of flux. Great changes are being brought about everywhere with a new Asia rising out of the mist. China is obviously the storm centre, and although there is much suffering, evil and disturbance, Dr. Endicott is more hopeful than ever before of an amicable solution.

Right in the heart of the present strife there is a decided movement to put China ultimately on her feet as a modern self-governing nation, Dr. Endicott remarked. One interesting feature brought out by Dr. Endicott was that China's trade is growing steadily, even though the country is in a state of chaos. In his opinion Canada would be doing more trade with China inside of the next fifty years than she is now doing with the remainder of the world.

An example of the Chinese faith in the dawn of to-morrow is the many structural changes they are carrying out in a great number of their cities, Dr. Endicott continued. They are laying plans and adjusting themselves to a world they see coming. China is going through a series of revolutions, politically, religiously, intellectually and in many other ways, but the day will come when they will be self-governing peaceful people, the visitor concluded.

This evening Dr. Endicott will address a public meeting in the Metropolitan Church, taking as his subject the recent tour of the Orient.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

ORGANIZING AN INDUSTRY

IN DRAWING ATTENTION TO VANcouver Island's opportunity to develop the seed and bulb growing industry the Junior Chamber of Commerce is renderig this community a useful service. Experts in the business frequently have declared that British Columbia has the right soil and climate for this purpose. Last night's discussion seems to have confirmed all we have been told. Apparently all that is necessary to expand present activities in this connection is more enterprise.

Superintendent Straight of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Sidney is authority for the statement that bulbs superior in quality to those produced in Holland can be grown in British Columbia. He told the members of the Junior Chamber that local bulbs had been sent to all the experimental stations throughout the Dominion, subjected to the severest tests against the Dutch product, and had proved their superiority. Mr. Straight said this success applied particularly to tulips, for long the pride of Holland.

For some years now, of course, many of the large seed houses in Great Britain have regarded the sweet pea seeds produced on Vancouver Island as among the best produced in the British Empire. Not a few purchasers of imported seeds in this community have been amused and surprised to find that their imported sweet pea seeds had completed the long trip from Vancouver Island to Britain and back. In view of the progress made in this direction, then, there would seem to be every prospect of success in more extensive ventures.

It seems obvious from the discussion at last night's meeting that the seed growing business, like any other enterprise, requires effective organization, not only to insure that the right course be taken, but also to insure that ample publicity be given to the products grown. We note that a proposal advocating an embargo on the imported article was opposed on the ground that local growers had more to gain by the development of the export trade than by placing any handicaps on the import trade. We venture to suggest that this is the correct attitude to take. If this seed and bulb business is to be developed successfully on a large scale, a good deal of initiative and industry will be required; but it will pay well to exert it. The removal of competition would very probably have the reverse effect and, instead of large scale production of the highest quality, operations would be restricted and quality would not be regarded as such an important factor as it otherwise would have to be.

It is safe to assume that last night's exchange of views between men engaged in the seed and bulb growing business will be followed by other similar gatherings until some practical plan has been formed by which the industry may be organized on progressive lines. In the meantime local importers would be lending their aid to this important enterprise by making themselves familiar with the local product and demanding it wherever possible.

THE DEATH OF CHARLES L. CULLIN at Powell River yesterday will occasion widespread regret, particularly in Victoria where he spent the greater part of his life. He will be well remembered as an athlete, notably for his interest in lacrosse of which he was one of the best exponents in Western Canada. He was a fine, upstanding specimen of Canadian manhood, with an amiable disposition, and his friends were legion. He will be sorely missed at Powell River where he has been acting as head of the recreational or welfare department of the big paper-making establishment operating there. The Times tenders its sympathy to Mr. Cullin's relatives in their great loss.

"GO TO CANADA"

WHAT THE PRINCE OF WALES SAID at the Canada Club banquet the other day has been said by many people hundreds of times before; but their observations, of course, have not obtained nearly as much publicity. H.R.H. thus has become an effective advertiser for this Dominion.

The Prince was describing his various trips to Canada when he urged the young men of Great Britain, particularly young businessmen, to come out to this Dominion and take a hand in its development. According to press dispatches the speech has attracted considerable attention. Last Friday the Federation of British Industries, one of the largest groups of employers in the Old Country, circularized its members with a view to getting together a representative party to tour the Dominion next Summer. Forty favorable replies were received at the offices of the Federation yesterday morning and it is expected that before the end of the week between six and seven hundred others will have been received. The plan advocated by this organization is three tours; one would make its headquarters in Ontario, another in Winnipeg, and the other on this coast. Arrangements would be made so that all these industrialists could dig deeply into the field in which they might be specially interested.

Parties of British businessmen, large and small, have come to Canada before. Parties of newspapermen have toured the country. Private individuals and men much in the public eye have come out to spy out the land. But somehow or other we seem to have heard very little of them afterwards. Many of them have written to the newspapers after they have returned home and some of them have made speeches. They have said we have a wonderful country, that its opportunities in numerous directions are practically limitless, a fact of which we are well aware and proud of; but it usually has remained at that. In the meantime our enterprising friends over the border have been coming in with their dollars and gathering the plums which British industrialists and investors might have gathered themselves. The latest development project will be in the Flin Flon mining area. Wall Street, not Lombard Street, is finding the money and American capitalists will reap big benefits from the exploitation of this enormously rich area in Northern Manitoba.

It is by no means too late for British industrialists to get into Canada and profit from their venture. But there will have to be more of the John Moore type, men of vision and courage, who realize that the great economic battleground of the future will be on the Pacific and not on the Atlantic. If those for whom the Federation of British Industries is arranging plans for an intensive study of the Dominion can be convinced that this factor of the Pacific is of world significance, the Prince of Wales's speech will have justified all the publicity which is being accorded to it.

FRANCE AND SECURITY

IN ALL DISARMAMENT DISCUSSIONS France has insisted that she first should be made secure from attack by any other power. What she has not been able to arrange through any action on the part of the League of Nations she seems to have managed very well on her own. Since the war she has negotiated what are euphemistically called treaties of friendship and mutual defence with Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, and just recently with Jugoslavia.

These diplomatic moves on the part of France may not be attended by any serious consequences; but a glance at the map of Europe in its relation to the geographical positions of the contracting countries reveals the comprehensive nature of the political fences with which she has virtually surrounded Germany. She herself and Belgium block her on the west; Poland, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, and Jugoslavia give her a zone of influence which stretches from the Baltic to the Adriatic, completely hemming in the Germanic bloc. As The New York Herald Tribune puts it, "they form a basis of security from both Germany and Russia."

The disturbing point about all these treaties, no matter how the language of diplomacy labels them, is that they represent the renewal of the same jockeying for spheres of influence and strategical advantage that has caused most of the wars of the past. But if France really implied that she would be willing to talk about disarmament when she had been secured, she ought to consider it time to make good her promise. She now has Germany in her "pincers" and Italy almost surrounded. A similar grouping of European powers produced the War of 1914.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WHAT THE PARENTS WANT

From The Teachers' World

Scarcely a day passes but children are led by their eyes to believe that he most important news of the day is the saddest, the seamiest, or the most gruesome happening recorded. Possibly it may be said of the reading public as of the theatre-going public, that it gets the fare it deserves, that the papers, like the plays, merely supply a known demand. There is much truth in the statement, and we believe that both theatre managers and editors would be glad to appeal to a higher plane of intelligence and feeling. The parents of the children are more to blame than the rulers of the press or the theatre.

Canadian Questions and Answers

CANADA'S ZINC PORDUCTION

Q. What is Canada's zinc production?

A. Canada' zinc production in 1926 set up a new high record of nearly 150,000,000 pounds, valued at $11,110,000, compared with 109,000,000 pounds in 1926 worth $8,328,000. Canada zinc production is made up by adding the metallic zinc produced by the Consolidate Mining and Smelting Company Limited of Tadanac, British Columbia, from ores of the famous Sullivan mine and other mines of the East and West Kootenay districts, to the recoverable zinc in ores exported, including those shipped from British Columbia and from the Tetreault silver-lead-zinc properties of Quebec. No other provinces produced zinc in 1926, but interesting and encouraging development work was carried on in the Sudbury district near Chelmsford, Ontario, by the Treadwell Yukon Mining Company.

Passport Discussion In British House

London, Nov. 29.—Shapurji Saklatvala, the Communist Member of Parliament, suffered cancellation of his passport to India because when he was in India early this year he made speeches of a nature which led the Government of India to apprehend there would be a breach of the peace if he returned to that country. These apprehensions were confirmed when Saklatvala, after his return to England, wrote a pamphlet dwelling on the use of force by Chinese Nationalists, and in the preface urged Indians to go and do likewise.

This was the explanatory statement given in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Earl Winterton, Under-Secretary for India.

Earl Winterton added that in July Saklatvala telegraphed congratulations to an Indian who had recruited a body of armed volunteers, styled the Republican Army, at Nagpur, and who subsequently was convicted of sedition.

Saklatvala in reply asserted Earl Winterton had made a series of gross misstatements and had acted without prior investigation. He would never write the preface to an anonymous book, he declared, and it was a gross misstatement to describe the Nagpur incident as recruiting armed men, when what really happened was that some Indians merely walked the streets in protest against the refusal of permission to bear arms.

"You never saw a man wearing a black eye because he minded his own business," remarks a writer.

EFFORTS TO SAVE CONDEMNED WOMAN

Counsel For Mrs. Ruth Snyder at New York Explore All Avenues

New York, Nov. 29.—Efforts of counsel for Mrs. Ruth Snyder to save her from execution by medical testimony similar to that given in the Leopold-Loeb case ran against a snag here yesterday. Dr. C. A. Weymann, who testified in the Chicago case and was summoned here by Edgar J. Hazelton, Mrs. Snyder's counsel, can not examine her in Sing Sing prison.

"The regular commission members are the only experts we will recognize or permit to see an inmate in the death house," Warden L. E. Lawes said.

Following up another lead, Joseph Leonardo, one of Mrs. Snyder's counsel, is searching the files of the Court of appeals in an effort to find a precedent for the consideration by the court of the alleged hostile "atmosphere" prevailing at the Queens County trial. The court has refused once to accept a memorandum on that point on the ground the evidence failed to show such a condition existed.

Counsel for the defence charged that the "mob spirit" prevailing at the trial was prejudicial to the case of Mrs. Snyder and Henry J. Gray, awaiting death with her for the murder of her husband.

New Province Plan Declared Unsound

Edmonton, Nov. 29.—That the Peace River Province proposal is economically unsound, fantastic and generally unfavorable, is the statement of Premier Brownlee of Alberta, upon the agitation developed in the North within the past few days.

The Premier suggests such agitation, being founded on wholly wrong assumptions, is likely to do harm to the district, instead of good and he declines to accept the scheme as in any way the judgment of the Peace River public.

DIAMOND ROBBERY

Cleveland, Nov. 29.—Two men and a woman held up employees of the Wirnkey Brothers' jewelry store in downtown Cleveland yesterday and escaped with gems valued by the firm at $205,000. A woman entered the store and asked to be shown diamonds and while a clerk was placing two wallets of gems on the counter two men entered and commanded the employees to throw up their hands. The men then seized the gems and all three escaped.

VICTORIA TO HAVE LATEST IN RADIO NOW

Reorganization of CFCT Is Taking Place With New Equipment

Victoria Broadcasting Association to Take Station Over December 15

Victoria's pioneer radio station CFCT is expanding. By December 15 arrangements will be complete whereby the station instituted here by G. W. Deaville in October, 1923, will go on the air under the title of the Victoria Broadcasting Association, and with greatly improved equipment.

Mr. Deaville will remain as managing director of the new control, and will have associated with him James McLeod, a civil, mining and electrical engineer from Glasgow University. Mr. McLeod joins the staff as technician.

"The people of Victoria may rest assured that they will have a station second to none in British Columbia, and on a standard comparable in every respect to the best stations in the United Kingdom," stated Mr. Deaville to-day, in outlining the improvements being made.

Mr. McLeod, who came to Victoria in the Spring of this year, has been supervising the installation of new equipment, and is making a thorough revision of all equipment used in the various phases of broadcast operation. The changes already made include a reduction in the power used from 500 to 250 watts, permitting sharper tuning and increased purity of tone. Local listeners reaching for distance can now eliminate the Victoria transmitter by a deflection of two degrees on either side on the dial.

No expense has been spared to improve the equipment, and an entirely new B-power supply has been installed, eliminating the A.C. hum, again adding to the purity of tone. The microphone circuits were revised yesterday, and several changes made in line with the new apparatus. By December 15 all will be in readiness for the operation of CFCT under the control of the Victoria Broadcasting Association.

Comments on the improvement in the broadcasting made possible by the new equipment have been widespread, states Mr. Deaville, with letters received from as far east as Illinois commending CFCT on the advancement made.

The station will undergo one of its most severe tests under working conditions on Wednesday when a feature programme in commemoration of St. Andrew's Day will be broadcast. This will be composed of Scotch airs, which will go on the air from 8 p.m. until 9.15 p.m.

On Thursday CFCT will broadcast the second of a series of evening band concerts by the twenty-six-piece band of the Victoria Fire Department, from 7.35 p.m. until 8.05 p.m. "The Nightbirds" will follow at 10.30 p.m.

On Friday the feature will be a special musical programme under the arrangement of Jesse Longfield, and which will show some of Victoria's musical talent to advantage.

"Final arrangements in connection with the change in the operation of the station have yet to be completed," stated Mr. Deaville to-day, "but we are determined to give Victoria a station that will be second to none on the coast, both in programmes and performance."

PETER CONNELLY DIED IN OTTAWA

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Peter Connelly, eighty, confidential messenger to a number of Finance Ministers from 1876 until 1901 and until recently chief messenger of the House of Commons, died yesterday, a few hours after having buried his daughter, who died last week. Mr. Connelly was one of the few remaining "originals" of the Dominion staff of civil servants. He first entered the Government service at the old Fort at Quebec a few years before Confederation. When the Government moved to Ottawa he moved with it. He was a native of Quebec City.

DARING MOTOR TRIP

Mr. Francis Birtles, Australian explorer, will shortly make an attempt to travel overland from England to Australia in a standard fourteen horsepower "Bean" automobile. His route is as follows: London, Paris, Vienna, Budapest, Constantinople, across the Persian and Baluchistan deserts to India, and from Calcutta down the Malay Peninsula, thence by steamer from Java to Australia, a distance of 500 miles out of a total overland run of 16,000 miles. He hopes to reach Melbourne, after motoring across Australia, in April.

Wakefield CASTROL Motor Oil will be used throughout this journey. (Advt.)

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use. Advt.

New Ambassador From Turkey Is Now in the U.S.

New York, Nov. 29.—Moukhtar Bey, newly appointed Turkish Ambassador to the United States, was landed from the United States liner Leviathan under heavy police guard yesterday and went at once to the Pennsylvania Station where he boarded a train for Washington.

The Ambassador said he had read newspaper articles in which James W. Gerard, former United States Ambassador to Germany, had charged him with responsibility for a massacre of Armenians seven years ago. He denied the accusations and said he would issue a statement in Washington after he had studied Gerard's charges.

Russian Dances to Be Feature of City Temple Fair Daily

The Russian Ballet School of Dancing, Professor Rosanof and Dorothy Wilson, directors, will stage a magnificent programme of dancing at the City Temple Fair on each of the evenings following the circus performance.

The Russian dance programme will start Wednesday and nightly at 9.30 o'clock.

On the Wednesday and Thursday evenings Russian Trepik, Spanish and Hungarian dances will be on the programme. On Friday and Saturday there will be a specially prepared programme for the final day of the fair, and with the above dances will be included some unusually attractive toe dancing numbers.

A progressive five hundred card party and dance, under the auspices of Ward One Saanich Liberal Association will be held in St. Luke's Hall, Cedar Hill Cross Road, to-night at 7.45 o'clock. The Cauncks Orchestra will be in attendance. Good prizes will be offered and refreshments served. A small charge will be made for admittance. N. W. Whittaker, the Saanich Liberal candidate, will address the meeting and will be supported by one of the Provincial cabinet ministers.

YOUR BABY and MINE
by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

KEEPING THE BABY COVERED AT NIGHT

Babies are congenitally, or so it would seem, opposed to being covered. This leaves the distracted and conscientious mother who has put her baby to bed in a room with fresh air and a constantly dropping temperature, unable to sleep for fear the baby will get uncovered.

She usually tries every imaginable method of holding the covers over his active little body and finds that he manages some way to wriggle out from under and lie cold and wet on top of the pile.

Sometimes I think a mother is too conscientious in covering the child and makes him so warm that he can't sleep. Or in the sentiment of tucking him up snugly, she tucks him up snugly that he can't move, and all babies dislike having covers hamper their free motion.

Roll a blanket and put it at the foot of the bed. Tuck the covers over so they do not strike the child's feet. There is real danger of delicate toes being cramped, and of feet being pushed sideways by heavy covers. The older children as well as the babies will enjoy this ethod of being covered, and it may prevent their crawling out from under, since this way the weight of the covers is not a burden.

Or one may try a small warm blanket pinned around under the armpits of the small restless sleeper, the folds coming in front. Turning or twisting can't throw off this cover and he may sleep comfortably on either side.

Heavy elastic garters can be fastened to the corners of the blanket and then pinned securely underneath the mattress. The garter has more "give" than is possible when covers are just pinned, and they will be held in place.

Use a nightgown which has feet, and long sleeves which pull down over the hand. This affords the child much protection and then the mother need not worry even if his arms are flying about above the covers at night. He must have some chance to flap them about.

Sleeping bags, made of warm material, solve the problem for the baby who sleeps outdoors in the day time, and on an unheated sleeping porch at night. I don't know if these can be made successfully at home, though I would be glad to know of any mother who had made them. The ready-made ones are warm and serviceable and have a hood as added protection from inclement breezes.

They are designed primarily for outdoor sleeping, but as one's room with three windows open may become as frigid as any sleeping porch, they are practical for indoor wear as well.

PIONEER RESIDENTS CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING TO-DAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke of Blanshard St., Wed Here November 29, 1877

Fifty years ago to-day the marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, of Annie Emma, daughter of the late H. N. Carlow and Mrs. Carlow, to William Harrison Clarke, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Clarke. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Teal, at that time a Baptist minister in this city.

To-day Mr. and Mrs. Clarke are celebrating the golden anniversary of their wedding, surrounded by their nine children, at their home, 2552 Blanshard Street. Of their fifty years of married life, forty have been spent in this city, and many friends, old and new, are showering congratulations and good wishes upon the bride and bridegroom of fifty years ago.

Mrs. Clarke was born in New Brunswick and Mr. Clarke was a native of Bruce Mines, Ontario. They met in the East, and Mr. Clarke came to Victoria on the same train as that on which the then Miss Annie Carlow came to this city with her parents, arriving here on August 14, 1877. Their marriage took place in November of that year.

Their children, all of whom are joining in to-day's happy celebration, include G. W. Clarke, Metchosin; Mrs. D. M. Barker, Vancouver; Mrs. J. H. Lory, Stony Plain, Alta.; Mrs. J. F. Olson, Victoria; Dr. A. E. Clarke, Vancouver; Dr. Hugh Clarke, Victoria; Mrs. H. N. Kinnear, Edmonton; Mr. R. L. Clarke, Victoria, and Capt. Ivan H. Clarke, Victoria. In addition there are also twenty-two grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, all in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke are "at home" to their many friends this afternoon and evening, the hostess wearing a handsome gown of black crepe-back satin with gold insets, and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. Her ornaments include the handsome set of brooch and earrings with which Mr Clarke presented her on their wedding day fifty years ago.

Golden shades are used in the floral decoration of the reception rooms, and on the table, with its decoration of golden chrysanthemums, the place of honor will be occupied by a five-tier wedding cake, decorated in white and gold and surmounted by a silver vase of Ophelia roses.

The family reunion will be celebrated at a dinner party and reception this evening, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke being "at home" to their friends after 8 p.m.

Girls' Council Is Addressed By Mayor Pendray

A very interesting meeting of the Victoria Girls' Council took place in the new Y.W.C.A. building on Saturday evening. There were about forty-five girls, representing Canadian Girls in Training groups of the city.

The sponsor, Miss Beal, the new president, Miss Quinna Daniels, and the secretary, Miss Olive Baker, were in charge of the meeting.

As the girls are taking up a citizenship project this year the questions for the "think, talk and eat" period were all in connection with this topic. Following the supper a very impressive devotional citizenship service took place.

At the conclusion of the business, Mayor Pendray, the speaker of the evening, was introduced by Miss Beal. He gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on civic matters, explaining the methods of elections and the functions of most of our civic committees. The very hearty vote of thanks signified the girls' gratitude for the time and thought which Mayor Pendray had given them.

Following the talk, a mock election was held. This part of the programme, especially the election speeches, caused considerable merriment.

Before the meeting adjourned a vote of thanks was tendered to all those to whom the success of the meeting was due.

MUSICAL FEATURE AND BARTHELMESS FILM MAKE BIG PROGRAMME

Richard Barthelmess has played many varied roles in his colorful career in pictures, but it is undoubtedly as the American boy of to-day that he is most popular with his admirers.

Richard plays such a role in First National's "The Drop Kick," which opened at the Capitol Theatre last night. He is a college boy, a football hero in this gay and frolicsome story.

Where To Go To-night

Capitol—"The Drop Kick."
Columbia—"The Night Bride."
Dominion—"What Price Glory."
Playhouse—"A Million Bid."
Coliseum—"Everybody's Doing It."
Crystal Garden—Swimming and dancing.

Patrons of the Capitol Theatre were given a great treat on the stage last evening. In addition to the feature pictures, there are two very fine acts of vaudeville, the first introduced Weston and Brenda, a pair of clever artists, who presented an offering entitled, "Musicale Logues," consisting of some exceptionally good violin and piano solos and duets, that were applauded vociferously by the packed house. The other turn was also hailed with much applauding, after it was seen that the artist in question was the popular Radio Soloist, Albert Macgillivray, who is making a return engagement to the Capitol at the request of the patrons and the management. He is presenting an entirely new programme, and it is certainly a great treat for music lovers.

DOLORES COSTELLO IS STAR IN MELODRAMA OF STORMY WATERS

Dolores Costello, celebrated in other great sea pictures, is again starred in a melodrama of stormy waters—"A Million Bid," a Warner Brothers' production at the Playhouse Theatre to-day.

In "A Million Bid," Miss Costello is cast as a poor little rich girl, the victim of her mother's selfishness. She is practically sold to a middle-aged man of the world, and separated from the youth she loves. It is on the rich man's yacht, just after the marriage, that the boat goes down, bearing with it the mother, and, apparently, the bridegroom. The girl and her maid are finally rowed ashore.

EVEN LIP READERS WILL FIND "GLORY" FLAWLESS PICTURE

Even the most astute lip readers will not find a flaw in "What Price Glory," the riotous war comedy, next week at the Dominion Theatre, for before the filming began Roaul Walsh's edict went forth that in all the French scenes the characters were to speak French and French alone.

William V. Mong, the "Cognac Pete" of the picture, who converses on the screen for minutes at a time, only to have his utterances translated by an orderly as "He says 'Yes,' Cap'n." is a linguist.

August Tollaire, the long bearded mayor who nearly loses his shirt in a game of African dominoes with the Americans, had the easiest time of all, for being French born he still speaks that language slightly better than he does English.

THIRTRY-FIVE BLONDES TRIED SCREEN TEST FOR "NIGHT BRIDE"

To use a biblical quotation "Many are called but few are chosen," in the movie business.

No fewer than thirty-five blonde-haired women were called by Director E. Mason Hopper before he finally selected Constance Howard for the ingenue role in Marie Prevost's current star comedy, "The Night Bride," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

Some were too tall for the star; others too short, while the trying screen test eliminated the remainder. The part called for a particular type of golden-haired beauty and Hopper never realized how serious his problem was until he had spent days interviewing prospective candidates. He was at length satisfied, his final choice apparently having all the qualifications of the screen character she was to portray.

STOCK COMPANY OFFERS THREE-ACT COMEDY AT COLISEUM THEATRE

Another good show is in store for those who patronize the Coliseum this week. The Ray Bell stock company presents this week a three-act comedy entitled "Everybody's Doing It." For good, clean, hilarious comedy, the Ray Bell has won a reputation. The play this week, if possible, is even better than those of the last two weeks. It is made up entirely of comedy throughout; and certainly furnishes the laughs of the programme. On the screen is "Shanghai Bound," the nineteenth picture of Mary Brian. Incidentally Miss Brian holds the unique record of having been featured in every one of them. She has played in twelve Paramount pictures, including the road show "Beau Geste," and has worked for five other producing companies to whom she was loaned by Paramount.

About 200 students of the Victoria College will attend in a body the Capitol Theatre to-night, to see Richard Barthlemess in his great college play, "The Drop Kick." To those who have attended college nights at theatres, this will be great news, for as a rule they liven up the performance with their college yells and songs to a great extent. Their yell leader will conduct their songs and yells from the stage during the performance. They will attend the first evening performance, which starts promptly at 7.15.

A general meeting will be held on Thursday, December 8, and all interested in the fishing in Saanich Arm are invited to attend. The headquarters of the club will be Brenta Lodge, and the following officers were chosen: President, H. Sandall; vice-president, H. Davis; secretary, H. E. Creed; committee, H. G. Dalby, T. Bagley, W. Jackson, R. Monteith, N. Brodhurst and Major Taylor.

The West Saanich Women's Institute will hold their regular card party on Wednesday at 8.30 p.m.

A most enjoyable event was the band concert and dance given on Friday night by the Shriners Band of Victoria in conjunction with the Women's Institute in aid of the Mill Bay Solarium. The Institute Hall was gaily decorated with colored streamers and masses of greenery. For the first hour the band in their usual pleasing manner rendered several selections, which were much enjoyed by the audience. The floor was then cleared and dancing was continued until midnight, the popular dances being much appreciated and the band generously responding with many encores. A buffet supper was served in the dining-room from a table decorated with bronze chrysanthemums and ferns. The supper was in charge of the ladies' committee, consisting of Mrs. Haddon, Mrs. T. Peden, Mrs. H. Creed, Mrs. Freeland, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. McQueen and Mrs. Atkins.

Brentwood, Nov. 28.—The annual sale of work of the West Saanich W.I. will be held on Saturday, December 3, beginning at 3 o'clock. BEETHOVEN RECITAL IS MUCH ENJOYED

Beautiful Centenary Programme at St. John's Church Last Evening

In commemoration of the centenary of the death of Beethoven, that great master's works, formed the motif of a concert given at St. John's Church last evening in the presence of a large audience.

G. Jennings Burnett at the organ and Miss Eva Hart, soprano, with the assistance of the church choir, gave the recital. The sublime grandeur of Beethoven's works was well represented in the three symphonies, and five or six sonatas included in the happily-chosen programme.

G. Jennings Burnett opened the programme with the Sonata Op. 109, theme and variations and finale, his other numbers including the Allegro from the Seventh Symphony, March Funebre from the "Eroica" Symphony, and characteristic selections from the Second Symphony, the Moonlight Sonata, Sonata Op. 31 and the Fifth Symphony, all distinguished by smoothness and dignity of interpretation.

Miss Eva Hart, always a popular favorite, sang with much feeling the "Song of Penitence" and "Creation Hymn," the choir joining in the latter.

The choir rendered an excellent account of itself in the hymn, "Father Now, in Jesus' Name," and the beautiful "Vesper Hymn."

King's Daughters Busy on Plans For Christmas Work

Mrs. L. H. Hardie, the president, received a warm welcome after her return from England at the monthly district meeting of the King's Daughters held in the rest-room yesterday afternoon. She also expressed her pleasure at meeting the members again after her long holiday.

Tentative plans were made at the meeting for the holding of the anniversary service on January 15, and for the Christmas work of the district, which will include the customary donations to the Salvation Army and similar organizations. Mrs. H. A. S. Morley reported for the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan, showing that in October the number of patients were 75, discharged 84 and 1,506 days' treatment. For the rest-room, Mrs. Stewart reported that it had been open twenty-six days, with a total attendance in October of 2,851 girls. Miss Roberts will have charge of the Christmas decorations.

The various circles also gave in their reports, showing that they have been supporting the work of the Duncan Hospital, and the V.O.N. as well as dispensing assistance to needy individuals. Mrs. Hardie told of attending the Armistice Day service on November 11.

W.B.A. Review's Annual Banquet Enjoyable Affair

Princess Alexandra Review No. 1, W.B.A., held its annual banquet last evening in the Chamber of Commerce, the affair proving a most enjoyable one. Mrs. Schmelz, the president, was in the chair and the attractive programme opened with the toast to the King, proposed by the president, with the National Anthem sung as the response. Mrs. McQueen Todd proposed the toast to the Women's benefit Association, Mrs. F. W. Laing replying; Mrs. Ritchie proposing to the toast of the Supreme officers, to which Mrs. McAllister gave the response.

Vocal numbers by George Guy and Mrs. Dawes were interspersed, and much enjoyed. For the occasion the tables had been attractively decorated with chrysanthemums and dainty place cards. At the close of the formal proceedings the members and their friends enjoyed dancing and games.

Associated Board Music Exams.—The Musical Times (London) has a capital article in the November number, and to be continued, by Ernest Fowles, analysing all the piano music set for the examinations of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music. These articles should be not only very interesting, but a great assistance to any teachers preparing candidates for these examinations.

PIMPLES BROKE OUT ON FACE

Lasted Nearly a Year. Healed by Cuticura.

"My skin trouble began with pimples breaking out on my face. They gradually grew worse and spread to my body. They were red and itched very much, and when I scratched them it caused more pain. Scratching caused eruptions which disfigured my face. At night I could not sleep on account of the irritation. The trouble lasted nearly a year.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. The sample helped me so I purchased more and in five months I was healed." (Signed) Willie A. Yaremko, 8924-88th Ave., Edmonton, Alta.

GRAIN TRAFFIC OVER C.N. SHOWS DECREASE

Unusually Late Harvesting Accounts For Smaller Loadings During October

Montreal, Nov. 29.—Earnings from general freight traffic, apart from grain, carried by the C.N.R. during October last, show an increase of about 1,000,000 dollars over October of the previous year. Against this there was a decrease in the amount of grain handled by the system from the prairie provinces, revenue from this particular source falling fully $2,000,000 below that of October, 1926, the effect being reflected in the revenue of the company as indicated in the financial statement issued yesterday.

The reduction in grain traffic in October was due to the smaller car loadings following the unusually late harvest.

In October, 1927, the gross earnings, excluding lines east of Levis and Diamond Junction, Que., was $25,181,502, as against $26,292,428 in October, 1926. Net earnings for October were $7,688,003, while in October, 1926, they were $8,585,671.

For the ten months of 1927 net earnings were $33,341,597, and in 1926, $37,143,519.

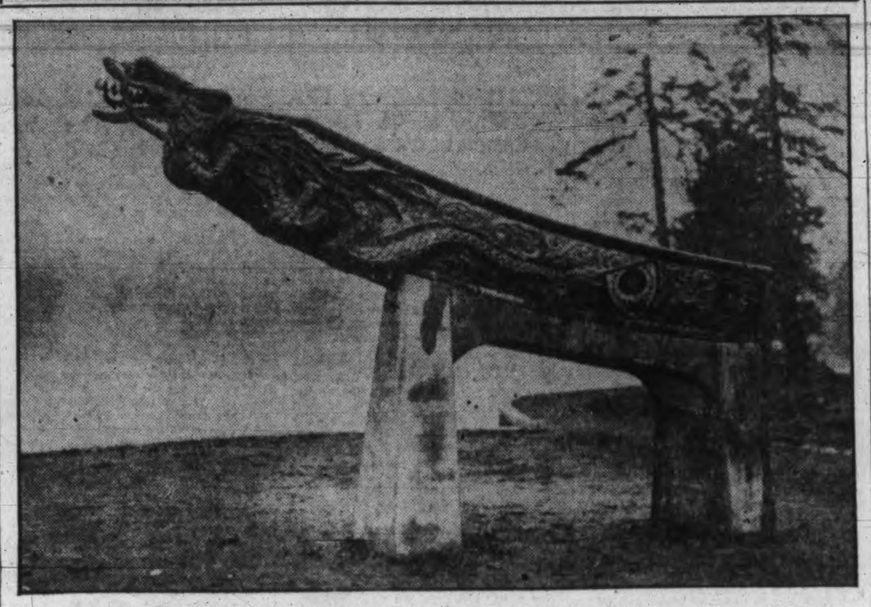
MARKS PASSING OF FORMER PALATIAL LINER



Mounted on a concrete block in Stanley Park, Vancouver, B.C. on the shores of the entrance to the harbor, stands the immense figurehead of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's pioneer transpacific liner, the Empress of Japan. The figurehead, with its gold, green and white paint, its gleaming eyes and glistening teeth, is all that remains of the beautiful clipper-type steamer that was once the largest, most palatial and fastest liner navigating on the Pacific Ocean.

The old ship was put in the discard a few years ago, her place in the service being taken by the greater Empresses which followed her. They still hold the transpacific speed and comfort banner. The Empress of Japan, when taken out of service, was finally sold and reduced to scrap. The Vancouver Daily Province, when it saw the old ship gradually disappearing under the hands of the wreckers, purchased the figurehead, and presented it in its present form to the Vancouver Parks Board, to be preserved as an historic relic of the port.

FRASER SALMON MAKING HEADWAY

About 750 Fish at Hell's Gate Canyon Moving, Says J. A. Motherwell

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—Major J. A. Motherwell, chief inspector of fisheries, stated yesterday that latest reports on the situation at Hell's Gate Canyon showed that there about 750 fish there and that they seemed to be making their way up river. He reiterated his denial that a blockade existed.

Speaking of the difficulties at Hell's Gate, W. A. Found, inspector-general of fisheries, stated that it was a problem of many years' standing, existing even before the slide of 1913.

"The stream at this point was always difficult for the fish to mount," said Mr. Found, "and our engineers have been studying means to circumvent the obstacles. The matter is a very delicate one, for if a certain section of rock is remqved it might cause a chute which would preclude all possibility of the fish ascending."

The inspector-general stated that he was well satisfied with the progress made in the fishing industry in British Columbia, and said that the department was using all the means in its power to conserve salmon and other fish. He called attention to the fact that last year's salmon pack was the greatest on record.

SYDNEY STRIKE TO BE EXTENDED

Sydney, N.S.W., Nov. 29 (Vancouver Province Cable)—The strike of the Waterside Workers Federation, it is said, would likely be extended to Wednesday, as shipping owners have issued an ultimatum that after that day no employment would be given unless there was a complete observance with the terms of all awards and agreements, and complete cessation of all practices conflicting with awards.

The union accepts this as a challenge and the possible outcome is that ships will be declared "black," thus involving the seamen.

PORT ARTHUR IS TO HAVE NEW ELEVATOR

Will Have Capacity of 10,000,000 Bushels; Port Arthur Supreme in Storage

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 29.—Mayor Francis, on his return from Winnipeg, stated yesterday that he expected formal announcement in a few days of plans for construction at Port Arthur for the Saskatchewan Co-operative of a 10,000,000-bushel elevator. This plant, if it develops as it is expected, will give to Port Arthur a total elevator capacity of 49,000,000 bushels, or about 11,000,000 bushels more than its nearest competitor for elevator storage supremacy. It would also be by about 2,000,000 bushels the largest plant in the world.

Twelve Hurt When Building Collapsed

Chicago, Nov. 29.—The steel skeleton of a building under construction at Twenty-fourth Street and Prairie Avenue collapsed during a severe rain, wind and electrical storm at dusk yesterday, injuring twelve persons seriously, including two women. Two of the number may die.

Most of the injured were workmen who had taken shelter in a construction shanty. The women were hurt when a girder fell across their automobile.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels soro don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep tehir kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. (Advt.)

Rev. Mark Jukes Spoke at British Israel Meeting

Rev. Mark Jukes, M.A., of Vancouver, was the special speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Victoria branch of the B.I.W.F. His message, "The Repentance of Israel, i.e., the Northern Kingdom in their new homes in the Isles of the West," created a profound impression.

Speaking of the seven times punishment meted out to Israel and Judah for their departure from God, he instanced the fact that from Jeroboam, the son of Nebab, who made Israel to sin, by establishing idolatry in the kingdom, to the time of Elizabeth, when she held up the Bible to the citizens of London in 1585, declaring that it should be the rule of her kingdom, was "seven times," i.e., 2,520 years. From that time England had been blessed above all countries. He also declared that if the people would turn from the spectacles permeating the nations to-day, they would have little to fear in the coming judgments.

He will speak to-night on "God's Deliverance of His People."

At the conclusion of the address Mrs. C. M. Tate, in well-chosen words, on behalf of the ladies of the association, presented Mrs. E. E. Richards with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums and a substantial cheque, as an expression of their love and regard and in recognition of her services as organist of the association for the past nineteen years.

The president, W. H. Blackaller, was in the chair.

A public meeting to explain the details of the final zoning by-law, now ready for consideration, will be called by the city zoning committee on December 13, it was stated at the City Council meeting last night. The final by-law is the measure that will replace the interim ordinance, and mark the consolidation of the city's effort to adopt town planning to local requirements on a gradual basis.

As the accommodation at the Variety Theatre is very limited and the audiences at National Council of Education lectures are invariably very large, those desirous of hearing the lecture, with films, by M. P. Greenwood Adams of the Australian scientific expedition, on Friday evening, are advised to secure their tickets in advance. Tickets may be obtained at The Times and Colonist, Fletcher Brothers, or at Diggon's.

An automobile, owned by H. G. Dulamont, 1020 Caledonia Avenue, was stolen and damaged by fire last night, but was recovered by police when an alarm was turned into the department telling that the machine was afire at the intersection of Cook Street and Blackwood Avenue. The car had been parked by its owner outside the Foresters' Hall, Cormorant Street. It was shortly after 1 o'clock that it caught fire, according to police.

T. W. Taylor, 133 Cook Street, escaped injury and death by inches on Sunday last when he was struck on a level crossing while driving his automobile on the Island Highway just south of Chemainus. Railway officials of the E. and N. declare that the crossing is not regarded as dangerous. The automobile was badly wrecked but the driver somehow extricated himself from the machine before the impact and was flung clear.

The Women's Mission Circle of Emmanuel Baptist Church will hold their regular monthly meeting this evening at 8 o'clock, in the schoolroom. This meeting is also the annual thank-offering meeting and is open to the public. Rev. Nelson A. Harkness, secretary of the B.C. Auxiliary of the Canadian Bible Society, will be the speaker, his subject being "The Bible Society's Contribution to the Missionary Enterprise." A large attendance is expected.

The report of the Auto Camp trustees, received by the City Council last night, urged the construction of ten cabins at the site to give better accommodation for tourists, and the installation of new sewerage disposal system. The net cost of the camp to the city had been $939 for five years, and the gross contributions by the city this year at $7,502. Some 32,330 tourists, in 10,305 cars had visited the camp in the period, and had circulated upwards of $100,000 in the city, it was stated. The trustees complained of a $300 raise in taxation by Saanich of the camp site. The report was passed to the finance committee.

CANVASSING TEAMS REPORT DAY'S WORK

Subscription List Steadily Growing Toward $20,000

Officials Feel Confident That Objective Will be Reached By Thursday

Returns in the Y.M.C.A.'s drive for $20,000 were rather slow in coming in, it was reported at to-day's luncheon meeting. On account of other luncheons there was not a very large turnout of canvassers, but it is hoped that those who were not present will have substantial returns to make at tomorrow's meeting. The fund, however, is steadily growing and by dint of hard work the desired amount will be forthcoming by Thursday evening, officials of the campaign believe. The merit trophies offered each day for the teams bringing in the largest amount of money with the greatest number of subscriptions were taken to-day by Capt. Alex Shepherd's team.

Results obtainable to-day showed that since yesterday noon $1,652 had been pledged. The special gifts committee reported that they had obtained six subscriptions and $1,021, making their total since last Friday $4,787. The canvasing teams reported that they had taken in $1,792 with ninety-three subscriptions, making a total for canvassers and special gifts $6,579 to-date

Another luncheon will be held tomorrow at 12-12 o'clock, when all team captains and their men are particularly asked to be present. To-day's luncheon was in charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Metropolitan United Church.

OBITUARY

Father Evans conducted services at 9 o'clock. Many sorrowing friends attended including the classmates of the little girl, and many beautiful flowers covered the casket. Interment was made at Ross Bay cemetery, the pallbearers being Leslie and Robert Dakin, Roderick McMillan, Clarence Kirchin, Newton Cameron and Kenneth Moody.

The remains of William McFadden, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital last Friday, were forwarded this morning to Salt Spring Island by the Sands Funeral Company. Service will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Mark's Church. Interment will take place at Salt Spring Island. The late Mr. MacFadden was born at Bella Bella, B.C., and was brought to Salt Spring Island when only three months old. His parents were in a canoe and had an accident and had to land at Sanson Narrows. This was in 1861. Mr. McFaden was constable and game warden for several years on Salt Spring Island; was also in the sealing business eight years, and was rural mail carrier from Ganges to north end for twelve years.

The remains of John Highman were laid to rest in St. Luke's Cemetery yesterday afternoon, the funeral taking place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, proceeding to St. Luke's Church, where service was conducted by Rev. A. E. deL. Nunns. The hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me." A large number of friends were present and many beautiful floral offerings covered the casket and hearse. The following, all members of the Masonic Order, acted as pallbearers: F. C. Holden, M. J. Little, E. G. Rowbottom, R. L. Cox, A. W. Trevet and L. A. Grogan.

The funeral of Oliver George John Timms, who passed away on November 24, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, took place yesterday afternoon from the Sands Funeral Chapel, Rev. N. E. Nixon officiating. Relatives and many friends attended the service, and the casket was covered with many floral pieces. The hymns sung were "Abide With Me," and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The pallbearers were G. Surrey, S. Ball, A. Longland and W. G. Lemm. Interment was made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

FISHERMEN URGED TO AID IN SAVING HALIBUT SUPPLY

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—Although there is an opportunity to revive the halibut industry, fishermen must be prepared to operate under stringent regulations which will be made by the International Halibut Commission at the conclusion of its research.

This advice was given to-day to the Vancouver representatives of the industry by Dr. W. F. Thompson, director of scientific research under authority of the commission. He spoke at a conference here at 10 a.m. John P. Babcock, Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries of British Columbia, presided at the meeting.

The final session will open in Seattle Thursday.

"Statistics gathered by the commission show clearly that the condition of the banks is very serious," Dr. Thompson declared. "Not only has the total catch declined, but there has been an enormous increase in the amount of gear used."

After Mr. Thompson had outlined his investigations, representatives of the industry expressed their approval of the present closed halibut season. Two members suggested the closure might be extended two weeks at the beginning and the end of the season.

The closed period is from November 15 to February 15, and is enforced under the international treaty signed on behalf of Canada and the United States three years ago.

Dr. Thompson observed that "an enormous increase in gear has been used and a very great decline in actual abundance on the banks has followed."

The conclusion would necessarily follow, he said, that stringent regulations must be adopted in the immediate future.

Poultry dealers are to meet the city health committee at a public session called at the city hall at 4.30 p.m. on Wednesday. The dealers wish to lay before the city arguments in respect to the keeping of poultry in the trade in fattening crates, and which would be against the by-law as at present drafted. The health committee has invited suggestions as to the best form of a by-law and will hear the representations of the dealers to-morrow.

VALUE OF PREMIER SHARES CONSIDERED

More Evidence Given Before Commission on Succession Duties

Evidence on the value of 320,000 shares of the Premier Gold Mining Company in 1926 was given this morning before Commissioner A. D. Macfarlane at the resumed inquiry regarding succession duty claimed by the B. C. Department of Finance against the estate of the late Isaac Untermyer of New York.

The commission is authorized under the Public Inquiries Act to determine the fair market value of 320,000 shares. The succession duty claim is $160,000, claimed to be $100,000 in excess.

H. C. Hall, K.C., appears for the Department of Finance. J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., appears for the estate.

Harry G. Boorman managing director of the British Columbia Bond Corporation said there were two firms having market boards in this city of which his firm was one. He was familiar with Premier Stock. They would call it an active stock. The market was the day's quotation. He would arrive at the fair market value by giving the day's quotation. The book value some years ago was considered the basis of determining the market value but that was being eliminated and the ability of a company to earn dividends for the shareholders was a factor. He thought it might take as long as three months to dispose of 320,000 shares at the fair market value. He would consider an organized market like New York or Montreal as that which would govern the market price. To throw too many stocks on the market at one time would be liable to cause a temporary break.

Mr. Boorman was questioned by J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., on his definition of value. He would call it the earning ability of a company rather than its book value. He was questioned further on the point and was also asked for his definition of a market. He could not say what was the largest block of Premier shares he had handled. When they handled Premier it might be handled through Victoria, Vancouver or New York markets. He was not aware of the largest block of Premier shares put on the market in 1927 or the affect on the market. If Mr. Roe said 70,000 shares were put on and reduced the shares twenty cents, he was not in a position to dispute it.

So far as dividends were a factor they in turn were affected by certainty or permanency of those dividends. An announcement that 320,000 Premier shares in September 1926 were being fed into the market would tend to break it or cause uneasiness. Shares frequently sold at more than their intrinsic value, Mr. Boorman said in answer to Mr. Farris. Mr. Farris cited Dunwell (before the drop. Mr. Boorman agreed that Dunwell had been selling, before the drop, higher than their intrinsic value—"in view of the knowledge that has come later," he added.

In the light of after events he would say the market value of Premier shares in September, 1926, was as given by the stock exchange. Mr. Farris drew attention to the values of Premier stock of $2.20 at September 1, 1926, dropping to $1.85 before the end of the year, and questioned Mr. Boorman whether he thought the 320,000 shares could have been disposed of at $2.20 a share within three months, but Mr. Boorman was not able to say without market records before him.

F. C. Holden, chartered accountant of the firm of Ismay, Bolston, Holden & Co., said in valuing shares they took the mean quotation for the day as the value of the shares.

"Many a man has gone broke on that theory," commented Mr. Farris.

Edward P. F. Roe, manager of the stock and bond department for A. A. Meharey & Co., was called by Mr. Farris. He had been a booster and active salesman of Premier Company and the firm he was connected with in 1926 he believed was probably doing half the business in Premier done in Victoria. If the 320,000 shares had been brought to him in August 31, 1926, and he had been asked for an immediate sale as quickly as the stock could be distributed in the different available markets, it would have been difficult to get any price at all. If he had been asked to underwrite, the underwriters would have required a considerable percentage to underwrite them. He doubted if a syndicate were going to underwrite them if they would have taken the block for more than $1.50 a share.

Attractive Musical Numbers For "Y" Tea To-morrow

With many more tables engaged, the annual guest tea of the Y.M.C.A. scheduled for to-morrow afternoon at the "Y" already bears all the hallmarks of success, and the ladies in charge of the arrangements anticipate a bumper attendance.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie will arrive at 4 o'clock, and as the tea commences at 3.30 it is expected that there will be a large turn-out of "Y" supporters already assembled to meet them in the prettily-decorated tea room.

The attractive programme will include songs by Mrs. S. M. Morton, contralto, Mrs. W. H. Stokes and Miss Dorois Bagahawe, sopranos, piano numbers by Miss Dorothy Greenwood and Miss Margery Devlin, and two dances by little Maureen Grute and Rica Halter, two pupils of Miss Violet Fowkes.

In addition to the long list of tables and hostesses announced previously, a table has been engaged by the Canadian Daughters' League, with Mrs. H. L. Wilson in charge; Mrs. J. P. Westman and Mrs. Alton will act as joint hostesses at another table, and Mrs. D. Spence will also be a hostess.

PAYS HEAVILY TO KEEP YOUNG PEOPLE IN CANADA

J. D. O'Connell, "Orphans' Friend," Tells Kiwanians of Law's Severity

J. D. O'Connell, internationally known as "the orphans' friend," told the Kiwanis Club to-day of the development of public interest in orphans and under-privileged children. He told of his work in Winnipeg to prevent deportation of a family of seven motherless children to Poland, four born in Canada, their worthless father being a Pole. He had finally undertaken maintenance of these children to prevent them from starving in Poland, believing they would become good citizens.

He announced that this course had been taken after discovery that it was the only legal alternative to deportation. The children range in age from fifteen years to fifteen months, and speak only English. He had therefore arranged to open an orphanage at Edmonton, and now has a number of prairie families dependent upon him for support.

Mr. O'Connell urged a Federal tax for protection of orphans. He warmly advocated conscription of money as well as of men as an equitable war-time measure, arousing great applause.

VICTORIA CENTRE OF MANY WONDERS

R. Connell Tells Kiwanians of Attractions of District; Minstrels Earn $1,000

Robert Connell, naturalist and geologist, spoke before the Kiwanis Club at the Chamber of Commerce to-day, describing interesting features to be seen around Victoria. He regretted that visitors spend a few hours in sightseeing and depart satisfied they "had seen Victoria's points of interest."

Mr. Connell remarked the immediate vicinity of Victoria is very little known, citing personal experiences in the Sooke Hills, where he finds new material for study on every visit. He believed the time has come to conserve some of the natural points of interest of Vancouver Island for the benefit of the people. He cited destruction by loggers of parts of Goldstream Flats, and suggested that Mt. Finlayson and the flats would have made a splendid national park.

Mr. Connell supported legislation to secure for the public unrestricted access to the coast, remarking that private ownership of waterfrontage prevents access to points of interest. He pointed out that visitors come to Vancouver Island to study natural features of the Island, and forecasted increase in numbers if provision is made for free access to points of interest.

The speaker objected to disparaging comments regarding Victoria by some drivers of sightseeing cars, remarking "Victoria is the centre of a district of very great interest."

He invited the Kiwanians to accompanying him on tours of the district, remarking "Victoria district has the peculiarity of being at its best, in some respects, in wet weather."

President Diggon reported that the Kiwanis Minstrels earned a profit of approximately $1,000 for the charitable objectives of the club.

Kiwanians were urged to join the canvassing committees of the Y.M.C.A., now prosecuting a drive for $20,000 to relieve the association of accumulated debts.

TWO NEGROES IN BOSTON BATTLE SIXTY POLICE

The fight had thrown a thickly settled district, inhabited largely by negroes, into an uproar. But although the principals were under arrest, the police were unable to explain the cause of the trouble, which started at an all-night drinking party.

Those taken were Robert Polite, forty-two, and his wife, thirty, negroes, a man named Brooks, who had two bullet wounds in his neck and who was taken to a hospital in a serious condition, and a white woman who said she was Miss Lillian Coyne of Brookline.

OVERCOME BY GAS

Three policemen were taken to the hospital with Brooks, overcome by fumes of tear bombs which made adjoining buildings uninhabitable for hours.

Mrs. Polite was suffering from bruises on the head and a mangled hand, injuries which she said had been inflicted by her husband, while the other members of the party were variously battered.

FIRST SHOTS

A police sergeant and two officers sent to investigate a complaint that a fight was in progress in the house drew fire as they approached the building. Five shots whizzed by them as they stepped out of their automobile and they retreated to procure riot guns and rifles.

They returned the fire and sent for reserves.

BIG CROWD GATHERED

In a short time the streets on both sides of the house were lined with uniformed men and the crackle of their guns roused thousands from their beds to block nearby streets. Inhabitants of adjoining buildings fled without waiting to don superfluous clothing.

Under cover of a heavy barage half a dozen officers dashed for the lower entry and managed to gain cover, only to find every door barricaded.

In the meantime, in response to requests for more ammunition and reserves, the besieging force was heavily increased and a supply of tear bombs brought into play. Every window in the house was broken by the police, who took up positions in adjoining houses and on roofs.

Sooke, Nov. 29.—Under the auspices of the Sooke Liberal Association a social meeting will be held at Sooke Hall on Saturday evening at 8. Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, and C. H. O'Hallowan will speak.

A splendid musical programme has been arranged, and there will be a tombola prize, refreshments and an informal dance. A prime ham will be given as tombola prize. Visitors are invited from the surrounding districts.

CANADA SHOULD BUILD IN WEST

Industry Must be Firmly Rooted Here to Take Care of Orient Trade

T. A. Johnston Tells Clubmen Pacific Trade All-important to Dominion

Canada' eastern manufacturers would have to establish branch factories in the Pacific ports of the Dominion if they intended to hold their own in competition with the world in the Oriental marts of trade, declared T. A. Johnston in an address before The Knights of the Round Table at the Empress Hotel last night. The long rail haul across Canada was a restriction which could only be overcome in one way, he said. Canada must produce the goods for her Oriental export trade in the West, ready for ocean freighting.

Like Vancouver, the speaker said, Victoria and other ports of the Province would receive vast benefits from the increased Pacific trade.

He pointed out the tremendous strides which had already been made in the shipping world, where transpacific trade was concerned.

There are practically no limits to the potential trade development in the Orient, Mr. Johnston said.

Canada's products have already been accepted there and she is enjoying a popularity which will increase. The speaker sketched the development of the Oriental trade in recent years, remarking upon the part which the Canadian Pacific ships had played.

During all the time he had spent here and in the Orient, watching trade conditions, Mr. Johnston said he was convinced that Canada's chief trade possibilities lay in the direction of the Orient peoples. But what was needed more than the continued representations of the government agents in the Far East was aggressive action on the part of the industrialists themselves, and the boards of trade, with government support. The Americans had established themselves in the Orient through this very method, he said.

Mr. Johnston went into figures to show how the Canadian trade with China had grown and was still increasing.

Mrs. Fletcher was in charge of the needlework table; Mrs. Percy Beech and Miss Robinson, the candy; Mrs. and Miss Flinton, handkerchiefs. A good sum was realized and tea was served during the afternoon.

Miss Dora Reynolds of Vancouver is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin C. Mouat.

Miss Rattigan, nurse at the Lady Minto Hospital, is spending a few days in Vancouver.

Rev. Father Sheelen of Saanichton spent the week-end on Salt Spring Island, saying mass at Vesuvius Bay and Fulford.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Abbott entertained a number of friends at a dance in the hall at Central on Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Eaton F. Downey supplied the music.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. S. Gregory on the birth of twins, a son and a daughter.

Mr. Cecil W. Baker has purchased Mr. Eaton's property on Rainbow Road.

Mrs. T. H. McMurdo is spending the week-end in Vancouver.

The Ganges basketball boys' team went to Gabriola for a game on Saturday evening. At time it was a tie, 10 each. A few more minutes of play gave Gabriola the winning basket.

Farm Debate in British Commons

London, Nov. 29.—The reduced majority for the Conservative candidate, Sir William Wayland, in the Canterbury by-election last Thursday, when he defeated Col. David Carnegie, Liberal, by 3,482, is attributed to dissatisfaction on the part of the farmers of the constituency with the Baldwin Government for not assisting the agricultural industry of the country.

As a result of the farmers' dissatisfaction, a group of Conservative M.P.'s has decided to move a resolution in the House of Commons, "viewing with alarm the serious condition of the agricultural industry." It is not thought probable the Government will accept the motion, but the Liberal members of the Commons also propose making a motion on the question of assisting agriculture, and it is likely both sides will obtain a hearing then.

The Baptist religious denomination, with 53,922 ministers, has the largest number of ministers in the United States. The Methodist denomination is second with 44,514.

B.C. TIMBER BASIS OF BIG LAWSUIT

$1,167,208 and Recission of Contract Asked at Trial in Vancouver

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—Claiming $1,167,208 and recission of two contracts for the purchase of 1,055,430,000 feet of timber on Moresby and adjacent islands in the Queen Charlotte group, Chuhel Fukukawa, wealthy Japanese financier of Tokio, and the Timber Holding Company Limited, Hastings Street West, are plaintiffs in a Supreme Court trial now in progress before Chief Justice Hunter here.

The defendant is the American Timber Holding Company, Hastings Street West.

The trial is expected to occupy several days.

On March 21, 1926, according to the defendant, there remained unpaid on two agreements $841,767 and $25,458 interest.

The defendant has counter-claimed for specific performance and damages.

SUTTEE PREVENTED BY POLICE IN INDIA

Widow Terribly Burned Before Rescued From Funeral Pyre of Late Husband

London, Nov. 29.—After suffering intense agony in the flames of her husband's funeral pyre, in an attempt to perform the ancient rite of suttee or self-immolation of the widow with the body of the husband, a Hindu widow at Barh, in the Patna district of India, was rescued by police, a dispatch to The London Daily Mail from Allahabad, India, says. The police experienced difficulty in rescuing the woman because of the hostile Hindu mob.

On learinng of the widow's intention, 5,000 Hindus gathered around the funeral pyre on the bank of the Ganges. They cheered as she mounted the pyre and took her husband's body in her arms. The local police tried to prevent her, but the Hindus interfered.

The woman and her dead husband lay burning on top of the pyre while the crowd applauded excitedly.

RESCUED BY POLICE

The widow, however, was unable to bear the torture. She rolled toward the river, clutching her husband's body, which disappeared in the current. The police, despite the hostility of the crowd, rescued the woman.

She, however, refused to leave the pyre, and the spectators prevented the police removing her. She lay there for two days while thousands of Hindus flocked from the surrounding districts to pay homage to the woman, who, in their eyes, had gained great religious merit by her act.

The police eventually were reinforced and took the injured woman away. Three leaders in the ceremony were arrested.

Suttee is now very rare in India in fear of the penalties imposed since 1829, which extend oven to those who abet the rite as "guilty of homicide."

Sufficient leather of all kinds to supply all the needs of the world could be obtained from sharks.

ONE INVADER WINS BUT THE OTHER LOSES

Phil Scott, English Heavyweight Champ, Knocks Out Monte Munn, Nebraska

Jack Humbeck of Belgium Beaten by DeKuh in Hard-hitting Fight

New York, Nov. 29.—The invasions of two foreign heavyweights, both seeking to battle on to a match with champion Gene Tunney, rested at opposite turns in the fistic road to-day.

Coming after a crushing one-round knockout at the hands of Knute Hansen, Minnesota Dane, Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, knocked out Monte Munn, giant Nebraskan, eight seconds before the close of their ten-round bout last night. Scott lashed the big westerner with solid right-hand smashes to the head from the start, but could not floor him, until the match was nearly over.

OUT ON CLEAN DRIVE

Then one clean drive to the chin toppled Munn to the canvas. He struggled to his feet a fraction of a second after the count was completed. In only the seventh round did Munn's aggressiveness give him an edge in the fighting. Scott weighed 195, Munn 219.

Fistic fortune was not so kind to Jack Humbeck in the Belgian champion's American debut against Arthur De Kuh, Italian heavyweight. The husky invader smashed De Kuh frequently with heavy left hooks to the head but lost the decision in ten rounds when De Kuh nailed him consistently with solid rights. Both were in trouble on several occasions, but each rallied without suffering a knockdown. Humbeck scaled 202½ pounds, De Kuh 206½.

ANOTHER NEW COMER

Old-timers grouped around the ringside at the Scott-Munn battle had an opportunity to compare the fighting prowess of Morgan Gardner, husky young 175-pounder, with that of his father, George Gardner, who ruled as the first light-heavyweight champion twenty years ago.

Although the younger Gardner was occupied but two minutes and twenty seconds knocking out Johnny Casanova, local heavyweight, he impressed the fans with his ability. A left to the body and right to the chin finished Cananova.

London Nov. 29.—Ted Moore, of England, defeated Frank Moody, of Wales, on points last night in a twenty-round bout for the British middleweight championship. The bout was staged at the National Sporting Club and the Prince of Wales was a spectator.

The Prince showed no signs of his hunting mishap earlier in the day. He received a tremendous ovation from the crowd, composed largely of Welshmen, who were delighted when Moody rose and sang the Welsh anthem at the arrival of the Prince.

New York, Nov. 29.—Jack Humbeck, billed as the heavyweight champion of Belgium, lost a ten-round decision to Arthur De Kuh, New York Italian, in the feature match at the Broadway Arena last night. Humbeck weighed 202½, De Kuh 206½.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—Outpointing his opponent in every round, Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Washington, last night easily won the judges' decision in a ten-round bout with Tony (Young) Marullo, New Orleans, at the Arena. Each weighed 172 pounds.

Canadian Rugby on Mainland Popular With Young Teams

Four-team Intermediate and Eight-team Junior League Formed in Vancouver

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—Due to the interests aroused in Canadian rugby by the recent visit of the Regina Rough Riders, plans are under way for operation of a four-team intermediate loop and an eight-team junior loop on the lower mainland.

Representatives of both junior and intermediate teams held a special meeting last night and evolved the plans for the two leagues.

The intermediate loop, which is to be known as the Lower Mainland Intermediate Canadian Rugby League, will be composed of entries from Richmond, Meralomas, Varsity and New Westminster.

The four teams now in the junior league, Kiskiles, Dodekas, Kitsilano and Columbia College, will form the nucleus of that league. Representatives were on hand from the Point Grey Night Hawks, Vikings and South Vancouver at the meeting. It is planned to enlist the eighth team from either Grandview or Vancouver College.

A schedule for the intermediate league was drawn up at the meeting and it will open January 7 with an exhibition game between Richmond and New Westminster. The junior league will also open January 7.

Yankees Release Two Veteran Pitchers

New York, Nov. 29.—Walter "Dutch" Reuther and Robert Shawkey, veteran pitchers of the New York Yankees, were unconditionally released yesterday.

WILL HE GO?

GEORGE BURNS

Fame is fleeting in baseball. Two years ago George Burns, then a veteran, was named the most valuable player in the American League. He had the greatest year of his career. Last season he slumped. Now, rumor has it, the Cleveland club intends to dispose of him, believing he has outlived his usefulness as a big league regular.

Rennies to Meet Saanich Team In Wednesday Soccer

Youngsters, After Unexpected Win Last Week, Hopeful of Win

Tillicums Will Play Navy While Hudson's Bay Will Tackle Garrison Eleven

Rennie and Taylor, leaders in the Wednesday Football League, will battle the Saanich United to-morrow afternoon. The Bakers, who have yet to taste defeat this season, may strike an unlooked for snag in the Saanich eleven. Last week the United upset the championship hopes of the Hudson's Bays by a 2-1 defeat.

In the other two games to-morrow the Tillicums will meet the Navy at the Beacon Hill upper ground, while the Hudson's Bay and Garrison will tangle at the Beacon Hill, lower ground.

SAANICH STRENGTHENS

The three fixtures should all be keenly contested as the teams will be evenly matched. The Bakers who have nearly cinched the league title will field their usual strong team and have few worries as to the outcome of their game with Saanich. The United have strengthened their team in the last two weeks and will most likely be heard from before the season is completed. They have a new goalie, who gives the team plenty of heart.

The Tillicums-Navy game should be a good one. These clubs both met defeat last week, the former at the hands of Rennies, while the Navy were setback by the Garrison. Neither have a chance to win the title, but they are both keen to survive to-morrow's match.

The Hudson's Bay, after their unexpected defeat last Wednesday, will attempt to take two points at the expense of the Tommies. The Garrison, with a better line-up, promise to give the boys plenty of competition.

The teams will be as follows:

Tillicums — Sallaway, Brynjolfson, Wright, Davis, Clarke, Sewell, Cann, Hamer, Petch, Rigby and Plater.

Rennie and Taylor—Lomas, Newman, Tupman, Rutledge, Borde, Stewart, Taylor, Hay, Speak, Purdy and Davis.

Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Haggan and Gardner; Ockman, Woodley and Kerchen; Fish, Playfair, King, Mair and Collier. Reserve: Cull.

Montreal Looks For Big Year With Club In International

New York, Nov. 28.—Transfer of the Jersey City International League baseball franchise to Montreal was ratified at the annual meeting of the league yesterday.

The 1928 season will open April 18 and close September 23, with a schedule of 168 games.

George T. Stallings, Walter Hapgood and Carlos Ferrer, appearing as representatives of the new Montreal ownership, outlined bright prospects for the club, which has a park with a seating capacity of 25,000.

The 1928 campaign will open on April 18 and close September 23. The schedule details will be worked out by a committee to be appointed at another meeting here on December 15.

Acknowledgment was made of the new owners of the Rochester club, including Walter Hagen, the golf star, and John Ganzel, formerly manager of the team. John L. Hicks and William Gilbert were the former owners of the club.

GIANTS PICK CAMP

New York, Nov. 29.—The New York National League baseball club will train at Augusta, Georgia, next Spring, Manager John McGraw announced yesterday. This decision was reached after the city council of Augusta voted to instal a training field, club houses and showers.

CANADIAN BOY MAY BE CHAMP OF FLYWEIGHTS

"Frenchy" Belanger, Toronto, Gains Close Call Over Frankie Genaro

Will Meet Jarvis of England in Deciding Contest; Britisher Bound to Win

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Regardless of who wins, or where it is staged, the world's flyweight boxing championship seems headed for a Britisher. "Frenchy" Belanger, of Toronto, last night won a close decision in a ten-round bout against Frankie Genaro, former champion of the little men, and according to the National Boxing Commission's recent ruling, will now meet Ernie Jarvis, of London, England, in the final of the flyweight elimination.

Not since the days of Jimmy Wilde has a Britisher held the title, but it is within reach now. Jarvis is one of the world's best 112-pounders, while Belanger, with his string of fourteen straight wins, eleven of them being knockouts, is considered to have a fine chance of taking the crown.

BELANGER STEPS OUT

Genaro gave the local boy plenty to think about with his smart ducking, weaving and bounding style, and it was not until the last two rounds that Belanger really got ahead. At the start of the ninth, apparently realizing that he had to fight to win, Belanger proceeded to cuff and belt Genaro around the ring and he never let up until the final bell.

Both apparently realized that much depended on the outcome and while Genaro seemed to fear Belanger's heavy punches the latter was very cautious. Several times, however, the two mites stepped in with hard punches and in the third, Belanger sank three hard left hooks into Genaro's stomach. Frankie, however, brought his experience into play and was out of danger in a few seconds.

RECORD CROWD

The largest crowd that has ever attended an indoor boxing show in Canada, 13,000, paid $17,000 to see the Toronto youth win. The decision met with the approval of the big crowd.

Ernie Jarvis, European champion, was at the ringside and was introduced to the crowd.

In the eight-round semi-final Tommy Mitchell, Toronto, cuffed and jabbed his way to victory over Chris Newton, also of Toronto, in a hectic fight.

Betting Shows Big Increase in Canada During Past Season

B.C. Bets Two-thirds as Much as Three Prairie Provinces Figures Show

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Bettors wagered $47,915,828 on the various race tracks in Canada during the racing year of 1927, according to Department of Agriculture statistics issued last night. This was an increase of more than $1,500,000, or approximately eight per cent over the amount wagered in 1926.

The 1927 year consisted of 354 days, ten more than in the previous year. As a result the average amount wagered each day throughout the 1927 season was only $135,355, as compared with $137,722 a day in 1926.

FIGURES COMPARED

Comparative figures by districts of the amount wagered this year are:

Quebec 6,345,957, a decrease of $217,899.

Ontario $30,379,960, an increase of $2,967,742.

Prairie provinces $6,878,330, an increase of $214,468.

British Columbia $4,311,581, an increase of $604,485.

Both Ontario and British Columbia had more racing days in 1927 than in 1926.

PROVINCIAL LEVIES

As all provinces, with the exception of Saskatchewan, take a percentage of the wagers as a provincial tax, varying from 5 to 5½ per cent, the provincial treasurers benefited by approximately $2,412,349, as follows: Quebec $350,000; Ontario $1,518,998; Manitoba $219,824; Alberta $107,998; British Columbia $215,579.

The total amount paid out in prize money to winning horses in 1927 was $2,024,586.

Niagara Falls Pull Surprise By Beating Leading Kitcheners

First Victory of Season For Falls Proves a Shock; Minneapolis Win Again

Niagara Falls, Nov. 29. — Niagara Falls furnished a real surprise in the Canadian Pro Hockey League here last night when they defeated the league-leading Kitcheners by a score of eight to nothing. It was the locals' first victory in five starts this season.

Minneapolis, Nov. 29.—The Minneapolis Hillers marked up their fourth consecutive victory in the American Hockey Association by defeating the Winnipeg Maroons, 6-2, here last evening.

London, Ont., Nov. 29. — London Panthers took the speedy Hamilton sextette into camp last night by 3-1 in a well played Canadian pro hockey game that showed the local champions of last season to be a revived and battling team.

Winnipeg, Nov 29.—W. A. Gilroy, Portage la Prairie, is the new president of the Manitoba Hockey Association. Decision to operate a four-team senior league in the province composed of Brandon and Portage, and the Tigers and Elmwood, of Winnipeg, will depend on rink accommodation.

Hudkins Will Meet Another Boy About As Tough as He Is

Los Angeles, Nov. 29.—Ace Hudkins's first fistic joust in several months tonight will pit the Nebraska "wildcat" welterweight against Herman Auerbach, of Salt Lake City, a rugged punishing, two-handed mixer like himself.

Hudkins said he was in fine shape and plans to enter the ring under 147 pounds, although the weight the fighters are articled to make is 150. Auerbach fights in the middleweight division.

The Salt Lake fighter likewise was in fine trim, and was confident that his fighting style, patterned after that of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion would match Hudkins's "wildcat" style.

Duncan Won Both Games From Locals

Duncan, Nov. 29.—The home teams were victorious in both basketball matches staged here. For the girls' team, the good work at defence and fine shooting of Ira Castley and the inclusion of Helen Macklin on the forward line added much to their success.

For the men's seniors, McDonald's shooting was excellent and Talbot's addition to the forward line was a great help. Eddie Evans made an efficient refree for both games.

The line-up and points scored were:

Duncan Girls—Ina Castley 6, Helen Macklin 4, Ivy Arthur 2, Annie Arthur, Iris Stock 2, Theresa Thorburn. Total 14.

Victoria Normal School—K. Eckland 2, M. Mahoney, Betty Warden, Agnes Rossman, Beverley Brien, M. Brown 6, Mary Welsh. Total 8.

Duncan Seniors—H. Talbot 2, R. McDonald 12, A. Dirom 6, A. Evans 6, D. Tait, Dr. French, Don Lauder. Total 26.

Victoria Normal School—E. Knott 2, L. Marrs, P. Rose 6, R. Thomas 2, J. Ross 3, L. Chapman 2, W. Lucas 4. Total 20.

Tommy Lumsden Wins

Tommy Lumsden won the men's monthly medal competition, played at the Uplands Golf Club Sunday, with a gross ninety-three and a net sixty-nine. Vic Gravlin was second with a gross eighty-six and a net seventy-one.

BILLY EVANS TO RETIRE AS UMP AND HANDLE CLUB

Cleveland, O., Nov. 29.—Selection of Billy Evans, American League umpire and well-known sports writer, as general manager of the Cleveland Baseball Club, was announced last night by President Alva Bradley. In this capacity Evans will be executive head of the club, handling most of the duties that were looked after last year by former President E. S. Barnard.

DEVELOP DIVERS AND SWIMMERS AT GARDEN CLASSES

A determined effort is to be made by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club to develop new swimmers in this city.

Arrangements have been completed by the club to hold regular swimming meets each Wednesday night at the Crystal Garden at 8 o'clock. Anyone in the city who thinks he will make a good swimmer or diver is invited to attend the class and get expert coaching.

The instructors for the swimming classes will be Kathleen Wellburn, Tommy Wellburn, Percy Fairburn and Frank Gilbert. John Cameron will be in charge of the ladies' diving classes. Instruction will also be given in water polo.

As a result of these plans the V.A.S.C. hope to bring on some star swimmers and divers.

Keats is Fined and Suspended For Row

Montreal, Nov. 29.—"For misconduct in the Detroit-Chicago game at Chicago, on November 26, player Duke Keats is fined $100 and is indefinitely suspended," was the ruling issued by President Frank Calder, of the National Hockey League, last night.

Balmy Beach Will Play no More Games

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Owing to their inability to field a strong team on account of injuries to players and the decision of Yip Foster, backfield star, and "Scotty "Cawkell, secondary defence player, to turn professional, and play hockey this season, officials of the Balmy Beach Club stated yesterday that the players had been ordered to hang up their uniforms.

Manager Reid had received telegrams from Regina Rough Riders, champions of Western Canada, and Kitchener Panthers, intermediate champions of Canada, asking for games with the Dominion senior champions. The requests had to be refused, although the Beachers will probably make a pre-season tour of the West next year.

"No-putt" Competition

A "no-putt" competition was staged by the women of the Victoria Golf Club. The competition required the ball to be played only to the green and not holed out, the winner being the one who turned in the lowest score for the eighteen holes. The competition was played on a handicap basis with the results as follows:

"A" class—Mrs. King, 67, 20, 47.

"B" class—Mrs. Bagley, 75, 36, 39.

TOURING CRICKETERS WIN

Bloemfontein, S.A., Nov. 29 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's).—The touring Marylebone Cricket Club team yesterday won their match from the Orange Free State by an innings and 164 runs.

Jose Capablanca, Defending Champ, in Bad Position, May Have to Resign

Buenos Ayres Ready to Acclaim Dr. Alekhine Winner of World's Title

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 29.—Alexander Alekhine, thirty-five-year-old Russian, was virtually chess champion of the world to-day.

Jose R. Capablanca, the Cuban master, who has held the title since 1921, announced after the eighty-first move in the thirty-fourth game with Alekhine that he would likely resign when the game is resumed to-night.

In the present series the winning of six games is necessary to gain the championship. Alekhine has won five, Capablanca three, and twenty-five have been drawn.

STILL HOLDS ADVANTAGE

When the present game was adjourned Saturday night, after forty moves Alekhine had the advantage of a pawn and was considered as being in a favorable position to win. At the forty-ninth move last night queens were exchanged and the adjournment after three hours of play found Alexhine still with the advantage of a pawn.

Capablanca said he would make an exhaustive analysis of the situation before coming definitely to a decision. He added that he felt there was not the slightest possibility of halting Alekhine's march to victory.

MUST WAIT TWO YEARS

In the case he is proclaimed champion, Alekhine, said that Capablanca would have the first chance to contend for the title again in any city in the world, under conditions similar to those governing the present match. He added he would not be ready to defend his title until at least 1929. The contest would be for $10,000 with expenses.

The present match began September 16. Capablanca had not defended the title since he won it from Dr. Emmanuel E. Lasker in Havana six years ago. After he won the title, he was challenged by Akiba K. Rubinstein, Polish champion, and Alekhine. These two met in 1923, and the Russian won the opportunity of contesting with Capablanca for the title.

Heads Ball Through Own Goal For Count Which Decides Game

English International Unlucky in Trying to Save and Welshmen Win

Burnley, Eng., Nov. 29.—Wales defeated England in an international soccer match here yesterday by two to one.

International soccer matches between England and Wales began in 1879. England has won thirty of the matches, Wales six, and nine were drawn.

England launched a determined attack right at the outset, but Page finished weakly. Cook started the Welshmen moving and Tremelling was tested by Jones. Lewis captured the ball near centre and worked his way through the English defence, and scored with a smashing shot which the goalie had no chance to clear.

LUCKY SCORE

A few minutes later Dean was unlucky not to get the equalizer. He ran through the entire Welsh field, but his shot struck the goalpost and bounded out of play. The ball was taken into English territory and during a fierce melee, Hill headed through his own goal for Wales' second marker. Half time sounded a second later.

The Welshmen resumed the attack after the interval. Len Davies sent the ball over the crossbar, missing by a few inches. Dean was playing a stellar game at this juncture and tested Gray with four successive shots.

SAVES PENALTY SHOT

During the pressure on the Welsh citadel, Bennion handled the ball. Gray saved the penalty shot by throwing himself across the goal mouth. A few minutes before time was called Dean took a pass from Page and scored England's lone tally.

The teams were:

England — Tremelling, Goodall, Osborne, Baker, Hill, Nuttall, Hulme, Browne, Dean, Rugby and Page.

Wales—Gray, Williams, Evans, Bennion, Kenor, John Hole, Len Davies, Lewis, Jones and Cook.

Pirates Rugby Club Will Stage Dance

On Friday night the Pirates Rugby Club will act as hosts at a dance to be held in the Foresters' Hall, Cormorant Street. Dancing will commence at 8.30 o'clock and continue until 11.30 o'clock, with Hunt's orchestra providing the music. A large attendance is looked for.

ONE-STEPPER WINS

Rock Springs, Wyo., Nov. 29.—"One-step" Watson completely outclassed Rudy Steiner, of Los Angeles, in an eight-round bout here last night.

PERSISTENT

"KID" KAPLAN

Despite knockouts by Billy Wallace and Jimmy McLarnin, "Kid" Kaplan, formerly featherweight champion, a title he relinquished because of inability to make the weight, is as earnest as ever in quest of the lightweight honors. Kaplan recently gained a decision over clever Mike Dundee. He insists he is the only legitimate contender, being able to make 133 ringside if necessary.

Two Clubs Continue To Set Fast Pace In Hockey League

Rink Rats and Bapcos Boost Winning Streaks to Three Straight

Former Defeat I.E.S. While Latter Account For U.C.T.; Champs Notch First Win

Rink Rats, Bapcos and Plimley and Ritchie were the winners in last night's Commercial Hockey League games staged at the Arena. In the ladies' exhibition the Cougarettes and Cardinals battled to a 2-all draw.

Rink Rats and Bapcos who have been setting the pace since the league opened both scored victories to remain in a tie for the league leadership. The Rats sent the International Engineering School down to a 5-0 defeat while the paintmen won 4-2 over the U.C.T. In the third game the Garrison were forced to take a 6-3 defeat from Plimley and Ritchie, last year's champions.

ENGINEERS OUTCLASSED

In a game featured by heavy checking the Rink Rats defeated the I.E.S. Spouse and Symons were top scorers for the winners each getting two goals, while Bates sagged the hemp for the fifth counter. The Engineers tried hard to prevent a shut-out but Symons played a good game in goal for the Rats and blanked them.

The teams were as follows:

Rink Rats — Symons, Pomeroy, Spouse, Smart, Griffin, Benwell, Symons and Kirby.

I.E.S.—Massey, McKay, Murray, Webster, Simpson, Bayliss, Blacquere and Givens.

YOUNGSTERS TOO FAST

Bapcos ran their winning streak up to three straight by taking the measure of the Travelers. The samplemen worked hard but the younger paint boys trotted off the ice with another victory to their credit. Unwin, Sparks, McKenzie and Lawson scored for the Bapcos while Newcombe and Milne were responsible for the Travelers' goals.

The teams were as follows:

Bapco—Westindale, McKenzie, Balcolm, Bleasdale, Unwin, Lawson, Pendray and McPhee.

U.C.T.—Hunter, Wilson, Watson, Milne, Gelling, Nicholson, Newcombe, Humberstone and Radford.

BACK IN STRIDE

After getting off to a bad start by losing their first two games Plimley and Ritchie put their first points in the win column by taking the measure of the Garrison. Monte Locke had a big night scoring three goals for Plimleys, while Russell, Davis and Tyrell got the other three. Martin, Malone and Charters beat Noel for the Garrison's goals.

The teams were as follows:

Plimley and Ritchie—Noel, Smith, Locke, Davis, Tyrell, Cameron, Russell, Davidson and Savanah.

Garrison—Allan, Charters, Malone, Vyse, Martin, Conroy, Wilson and Peppin.

NO DECISION

In a keenly contested game the Cougarettes and Cardinals failed to decide their argument. V. Rennie and M. Sassik scored for the Cardinals while Lulu Andros and Clara Renouf were responsible for the Cougarettes' goals.

The teams took the ice as follows:

Cardinals—G. Wright, M. Bassik, M. Baker, G. Rennie, V. Rennie, K. Smith, K. Wellburn and A. Findler.

Cougarettes—S. Gould, I. Philbrook, R. McVie, M. Fost, M. Cockin, L. Andros and C. Renouf.

Jack McDonald refereed all the games.

Bobby Jones On Golf

IN GOLF, IT ALL DEPENDS ON YOU

In golf, possibly more than in any other game, we must always keep before us the fact that human beings cannot be infallible. A golfer must always make provision for retrieving mistakes after they are made, as well as for avoiding, as much as possible, situations which are conducive of costly error. In baseball or football, the former particularly, the succeeding plays are connected not nearly so closely as in golf. Two or three batsmen may be needed to score one run, and in football two or three plays may have to be run to make a first down, but in either case, the difficulty of the present situation is rarely enhanced or diminished, except as the nervous tension may be increased, or relieved by what has gone before. In any event, the batter will be striking the same ball from the same place, thrown much in the same way, and the halfback will be running plays he has run many times before from the same formations and with the same assistance.

THE COMPARISON

In golf the difficulty of the second shot depends to a large extent upon the success of the first, and that of the third, as much, upon the result of the second. The relation of hole to hole, when the ball is put into play anew on each tee, is the same as the relation of play to play in a baseball or football game. In similar fashion, the succeeding shots on each hole may be compared to the co-ordinated functions of the individual member of the team, where the failure of one or two puts an added burden upon the rest, and there is what we call "teamwork" among the various shots of an efficient golfer as much as among the individuals of a well-trained football eleven.

But on the golf course are we not in the habit of forgetting what we hasten to acclaim from the grandstand? Do we not many times strike out in blind hope or fury without giving a thought to the burden we are likely assuming for the next shot?

A ONE-MAN GAME

Golf is essentially a game for the individual. Walter Hagen is said to have chosen golf instead of baseball as a profession because in baseball he had to depend on eight men to help him win. There may be much in this fact, that the golfer depends wholly upon himself and is responsible only to himself, which makes us overlook the value of linking our shots together. We either are vain enough to feel that we can get out of trouble if need be, or we are like the blind mule that ran into the tree, and are reckless of consequences. Whatever the cause, I am convinced that the use of a little thought and discretion in providing against difficulties before they actually arise will take strokes off any man's score. A little strategy—although the operation is not as serious as the use of the term would imply—employed in making the course from tee to green will usually avoid the big figures on the card, and while it may detract from the spectacular part of the game, it will make for a business-like consistency which will cover a multitude of sins.

TEAM WORK REQUIRED TO KEEP SCORES LOW

I have recently engaged in a number of old-fashioned foursome matches, informal of course, with a friend and partner whose normal game ranges in the high eighties. At first we had more than a little difficulty, partly because we had to play unaccustomed shots, but mainly because, having each played a single ball almost entirely, we were not used to the responsibility which we felt to each other. Playing alternate strokes, I think we have both learned that a great deal of consideration must be shown the other fellow in providing a good position for his shot. In a match of that kind you feel that, in fairness to your partner, you should not require him to play from a bunker when he has most kindly left you resting nicely in the fairway.

From a score of about eighty-five for our first round, we have worked down, in the course of four or five matches, to the seventy-five which we scored on our last round, and that with a nasty seven at the fourteenth, where we momentarily forgot our teamwork. We were out nicely in thirty-four, where I confess we outdid ourselves, and back in forty-one. And this score was due as much to one as to the other. It was a product of teamwork, pure and simple.

This was brought in merely as an illustration of what may be done when one has a conception of golf as a game in which one stroke is added to the other to make the score, rather than the sum of many disconnected efforts upon a small ball. There is no reason that the same principle might not apply to the individual in his use of the various necessary clubs. Let each shot be directed toward definite progress, and do not attempt things which are obviously impossible. Don't try to go over a bunker guarding the green when you know in nine cases out of ten, you can't make it. Instead of a brassie and two or three bunker shots, use an iron and a short pitch with the assurance of being closer to the hole.

THISTLES TO GET READY

A special meeting of the Saanich Thistles' football team will be held after the practice to-night at the Veterans of France club rooms, Douglas Street. The Thistles' team to play Victoria City will be: Hetherington, Kennedy, Harper, Millar, Joe Crowe, Jim Crowe, Phillips, Easler, Burns, Saville and Cummins. Reserves, Price and Ewing. All players are asked to be present.

UHLAN IS WINNER

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Red Uhlan, San Francisco southpaw middleweight, again won the judges' decision over Walcott Langford, of Chicago, at the end of eight rounds last night.

"And is there any instrument that you play?" asked the woman, who was pressing her guests into service to provide entertainment.

"Not away from home," Jenkins replied.

"Oh, that's queer. What do you play at home?"

"Second fiddle."

Montreal To-day

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

(By B.C. Bond Corporation Direct Wire)

Montreal, Nov. 29.—Trading on the Montreal stock exchange this morning provided a large number of outstanding features. The activity continued on a large scale and the bullish element commanded throughout the performance.

Four of the five new high records were contributed by paper issues, the most spectacular actor being St. Maurice Valley. It opened one point up at 74½, steadily advanced to a new high at 82 and then broke abruptly to 74, where it recovered to 77 and finally settled at 76½ for a net advance of three points. St. Maurice Valley Preferred also scored a new high at 103.

Laurentide was another popular issue and from an opening of 109 jumped to 112, closing only ¼ under the high. A gain of 7½ points by Price Brothers to 72½ and an advance of one point in Wayagamack to 114 completed the list of important movements in that department.

Consolidated Mining and Smelting first jumped five points to 267, a new high movement, but subsequently eased off to 265.

Brazilian again outclassed all other securities with a turnover of 10,188 shares. Opening unchanged at 219, it advanced to 221½, thus duplicating its record price and closed at 220 for a net gain of one point.

The demand for curb stocks continued this forenoon with the result that a heavy volume of transactions were recorded. Recent leaders were again prominent and several issues which have been inactive for some time provided outstanding features of strength.

Among these was Dominion Stores, which crossed the 100 mark, selling at a new high record of 101 and closing at 99 for a net advance of five points.

Fraser Company Limited has notified its preferred shareholders under date of November 28, that the company's present outstanding $2,325,000 par value of the 7 per cent cumulative redeemable convertible preferred stock will be redeemed on January 30, 1928, at 105 and accrued dividends in the redemption notice attention of holders of the preferred is directed to the right which they have to convert their stock into common shares on the basis of three no par value common shares for each preferred share held, and holders have the right to execute this privilege before January 30 next. TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Brandon, Brown & Co., Limited)

Winnipeg, Nov. 29.—Wheat: Wheat prices broke sharply during the first period this morning with considerable selling in evidence by local trade and commission houses due to the unexpected weakness in Liverpool, while export business was flat. Later there was some short covering based on reports of further rains falling in the Argentine and the greater part of the earlier loss was regained, but the bulge was not held, prices again getting up against the daily bids, buying against which was sufficient to check further declines as offerings were light on the breaks. Trade volume was small and almost entirely local. Nothing in export business overnight could be confirmed and no business was received this morning.

Argentine situation appears to be most favorable, although rains yesterday and again to-day are delaying harvest. A private estimate placed the Argentine wheat crop at 245,000,000 bushels, the largest figures so far this year, and which if correct will give that country an exportable surplus of 170,000,000 bushels as against 150,000,000 last year.

Movement in the Canadian West continues heavy, farmers marketings yesterday being 3,583,306 bushels vs. 2,125,818 a year ago. Cash market dull, a little demand for four wheat, but offerings were liberal and spread inclined to be easy. Wheat inspections yesterday were 2,814 cars, of which 1,097 graded contract.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Our market did not recover from the effect of the weak cables and the decline in Winnipeg, although the tone in the late trading was better than earlier in the day. The market appeared to be in a rut, and will probably remain until something develops one way or the other. The fina outcome of the Argentine crop is still some distance away. Action of wheat suggests a trading market pending developments.

Corn prices averaged a little lower. Locals continued to support the market, but commission houses sold on small upturns. There was heavy changing between December and May. The forecast for colder weather over the belt was construed as bearish. Would not press sales on declines.

Oats trade was the most active in weeks. Cash houses took the December, while commission houses and locals bought the more distant months. There was considerable exchanging between December and May. Oats could easily advance with favorable conditions in other markets.

Liverpool due unchanged to ⅛ higher.

BUCKETSHOP RAIDS STARTED BY MOVE HERE

Inauguration of a campaign of bucketshop raiding by the Vancouver police yesterday under Sid Miller, president of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, was endorsed here to-day by a statement issued by W. S. Campbell, president of the Victoria Stock Exchange.

"I think that we in Victoria can claim part credit for being the instigators of this clean-up of bucket shops," Mr. Campbell said. "A couple of weeks ago we took public action, bringing the activities of the bucketshops to the attention of the attorney-general's department, as reported in the Victoria Times.

"The bucket shops, driven out of Ontario by the Attorney-General of that province, and out of New York by Keyes Winter, prosecuting attorney there, moved out to British Columbia and started operating from Vancouver. They used the long distance telephone and telegraph from Vancouver to take in the gullible.

"We have had no bucket shops open in Victoria. All their operations here have been conducted by long distance telephone from Vancouver.

"The action of the Vancouver police certainly has the approval of business interests and their clients here and is a step in the right direction."

Wall Street Journal's Review of To-day's Stock Market Over B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Wall Street Leased Wire to The Victoria Times

By B.C. Bond Direct Wire

New York, Nov. 29.—The evening edition of the Wall Street Journal says:

Yesterday's reaction was sunk without a trace. By the end of the first hour active stocks had thrown off all efforts of selling, offerings diminished and operations for the rise were resumed.

Buying was especially vigorous in Radio, Montgomery Ward and Goodrich, not to mention some of the special issues which featured operations.

Professional traders sold some Steel Common in the morning, but their efforts werequite ignored and later in the day the stock crossed 147.

General Motors, while not exactly depressed, was a bit heavy. The explanation of the street for this continued to be connected with the new Ford car. As a matter of fact, the expected appearance of the new model took precedence over all other gossip.

The price of the new Ford will be just 850 higher than that of the old model, well authenticated reports in financial circles say to-day, according to New York Telegram.

MONTREAL STOCK GOSSIP

By B.C. Bond Corporation Direct Wire

Montreal, Nov. 29.—In connection with Dominion Bridge, the action of Dominion Engineering in the curb was watched with a great deal of interest. Fresh buying made its appearance for Engineering toward the close of the week and the stock was found rather scattered. It was aggressively bought, however, and on Saturday had one of its biggest days, leading the curb in activity and advancing to the new high of 57, for a net gain of eight points. The directors of the company are expected to meet for dividend action on the subsidiary stock very shortly and the present demand for the issue is taken in the street as suggestive of favorable action in this respect. The most general guess has been that the new issue would be placed upon a $2.00 basis.

The rise of Dominion Engineering stock naturally enhances the position of Bridge stock from an asset value and $2.00 dividend will materially increase the income of the present company.

Consolidated Mining & Smelting has substantial holdings in the field which might readily prove of great importance. The company has added materially to its potentialities through the acquisition and optioning of properties in several fields this year and it is logical to expect that some of these may in the not far distant future prove a factor in the company's earnings.

As was pretty generally expected, Canada Cement Preferred is proving its worth in the eyes of investors. Advancing to 98 with a net gain of one point, it advanced to within two points of the issue price, which will leave the purchaser of 100 shares with a clear gain of forty Common shares.

To-day's Mining Markets

WHOLE MARKET TURNS BULLISH

Nearly everything moved up to-day in the bull market that is on here, following the sensational boom in the mining exchanges of Toronto and other eastern centres.

Rufus headed the trading list for volume to-day. On the news of the action taken by the directors of the Rufus and Argenta companies at the meetings yesterday, the stock opened up to-day and sold from 16 to 18 and closed at 16½ to 19. Argenta was also strong, the stock being bid up three points during the session without bringing out any stock for sale below 22.

Golconda stepped up another notch to-day to sell at a new high of 36½. It closed on a new high of 35-38. The stock is moving right along with the development at the property. To-day the report on the work at the mine showed that the crew is fifty feet in on the cross-cut towards the ore. As the total distance to be covered is 100 to 125 feet, the crew has got half way there in about one week's work. The crew is also now eighty feet on the west drift in ore on the raise. Another week to ten days will see the Golconda objective reached, it was estimated.

Porter-Idaho went through to a new high of forty-two here and in Vancouver.

Big Missouri also reached thirty in both markets, closing on a range of 29-35 here.

George Copper, Coast Copper and Premier, all held their price levels of the last few days, with George Copper reaching 250 on a short sale in Vancouver.

The run-up in Dunwell has surprised many in the market, although some such move was about due. To-day the stock sold at twenty in Vancouver and closed here at 20-30. It is reported that plans are under way to open the Dunwell mill as a custome mill to handle ore from all properties in the Glacier Creek section.

Independence continued its upward rush, reaching seven in Vancouver.

The move on the Upper Bear River as a result of what has happened to the George Copper, Red Top and now with Rufus and Argenta, has turned attention towards Terminus, which is the next big property group. Since the middle of last week there has been nibbling for the stock on the curb and spasmodic bids for it around eight on the exchange without bringing any out

Rufus and Argenta Directors Accept Terms of Sale Offer

With a full attendance of directors from Vancouver, Seattle and Victoria present, the boards of the Rufus Silver Lead Mines and the Argenta Mines meeting here yesterday afternoon, voted unanimously to accept the terms of the contract presented for the joint sale of the two properties to an operating subsidiary of the Noranda company, which is conducting large scale mining and smelting operations in Northern Quebec.

The terms of the agreement are similar to those made by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Montreal in taking over the George Gold-Copper property. The Rufus and Argenta are being merged on a share-for-share basis, and the eastern buyers and operators are putting up $480,000 to develop the property and will receive a controlling stock interest on the basis of 30 cents a share, which was the price in the George Copper deal. Development of the mine will be undertaken on a large scale next Spring.

The Rufus and Argenta are adjoining properties on the Upper Bear River and directly across the river from the George Copper. The Rufus is classed as silver-lead, and the Argenta as gold-copper.

This deal marks the entrance of another eastern Canadian mining organization into the Northern British Columbia field, as last week the Trethewey of Cobalt followed the Consolidated into the Upper Bear and took for immediate development the Red Top property, which is adjacent on the eastern side to the Argenta.

Federal Government's Programme Will Assist Indians In Many Respects

Big Improvements in Native Farming Districts to Be One of First Results of $100,000 Annual Grant; New Policy Is Final, Says Ditchburn, Warning Natives to Abandon Any Attempt at Further Appeals; Expenditures to Aid Aborigines Larger Than Ever

Indian farms all over British Columbia will be connected with irrigation systems as part of the Federal Government's new programme of assistance to the natives of this Province, W. E. Ditchburn, Indian Commissioner for British Columbia, announced here after receiving instructions from Ottawa.

Out of the special annual grant of $100,000 voted by Parliament to assist the aborigines, it is proposed to spend sufficient every year to get all the irrigation systems of the Province serving Indian districts in the best working condition. Existing systems in all districts will be repaired for the benefit of the natives. In addition, fruit growing, stock raising and agriculture generally will be encouraged under this broad scheme.

NATIVES ARE WARNED

With this outline of the Government's programme Mr. Ditchburn coupled a friendly warning to the Indians to abandon all attempts to appeal to King George or to the Imperial Government for more generous treatment. All Indians in the Province will be told that they will be wanting their money if they contribute to any more funds to finance such appeals.

"The decision of Parliament absolutely disallowing the requests of the Indians for compensation because of their land ownership all over the Province is final," Mr. Ditchburn said. "The new plan under which $100,000 will be spent annually for the benefit of the Indians in addition to the usual appropriations will stand and further appeals by the natives to the British authorities are useless. In the past Indians in many districts have spent a great deal of their money paying for the cost of sending chiefs to London to see the King and ask for more generous treatment. We are warning the Indians now against such expenditures because they would just be a waste of money."

TO INFORM TRIBES

Mr. Ditchburn will commence immediately to distribute among the educated Indians who can read them, copies of the report of the special committee of Parliament which considered the claims of the Allied Tribes in June, 1926, and the recommendations on which the present Indian policy is based. In this way all the natives will be informed of the final decisions of Parliament on their case.

EXPENDITURES GROW

More money will be spent to assist the Indians of the Province next year than ever before, the Indian Commissioner said. In the present fiscal year of 1927-28 $365,000 is being spent for general Indian administration here, besides $508,000 for Indian education. Next year to these appropriations will be added the new annual grant of $100,000, making a total of at least $973,000.

The Indian Department is now working out details of the $100,000 expenditure which will be devoted to technical education, provision of hospitals and medical attendance, and in the promotion of agriculture, stock raising, and fruit culture and in the development of irrigation projects.

Figures contained in the report of the parliamentary committee which considered the claims of the Allied Tribes of B.C. show that since 1871 the Federal Government has spent $10,800,300 on the natives of this Province. The expenditures rose from $500 in 1871 to this year's appropriation of $873,000.

Imperial Bank Statement Seen As Index To Canada's Prosperity

The annual statement of the Imperial Bank of Canada is always awaited with interest, as it is the first institution among our chartered banks to report its activities. The fifty-third annual statement, covering twelve months from November, 1926, to October 31, 1927, has just been presented to the shareholders at the annual meeting in Toronto.

During the past year there has been an improvement in the business of the country, and this is reflected in a most satisfactory manner by the bank's strong statement, with profits and total assets at the highest figure in its history.

The profits for the year, after deducting charges of management, auditors' fees, interest due to depositors, and making provision for bad and doubtful debs, amounted to $1,383,281.58, $120,000 more than the figures shown at the close of the previous year.

Total assets have risen from $131,800,000 to $138,900,000, an improvement of a little better than $7,000,000. The bank's liquid position is particularly marked. Liquid assets reached a figure in excess of $76,000,000, or better than sixty-two per cent. of the bank's liabilities to the public, while purely cash assets stand at $28,207,000, practically twenty-three per cent. of the bank's liabilities to the public.

In addition, it is noticed that over $14,000,000 is invested in Dominion, Provincial and Government securities. The confidence which the public has in the Imperial Bank is indicated by total deposits which are now $109,000,000, an increase of $8,200,000 during the year. Savings bank deposits stand at over $85,000,000, and deposits not bearing interest at $23,900,000.

Loans to agriculture and business enterprise, under the heading, current loans, are a little in excess of $55,000,000, while non-current loans are reduced to $162,000, or $40,000 less than a year ago. The statement throughout indicates that the bank's funds have been well employed during the past year, and indeed in every particular the statement must prove a very satisfactory one to the shareholders.

The capital of the bank remains at $7,000,000 with a rest of $7,500,000.

Mrs. Belson made the presentation and gave a short address to the children, and was later presented with a beautiful bouquet of yellow chryaanthemums by one of the pupils. The National anthem brought the presentation to a close and afternoon tea was served by the teachers.

ORPHAN KING TALKS TO PROHIBITIONISTS

J. D. O'Connell Believes That Public Sentiment Now in Favor of Temperance

J. D. O'Connell millionaire "Orphans' Picnic King" in an address last evening at the Metropolitan Church under the auspices of the local branch of the Prohibition League said that "bad booze," the passing of the treating habit, a growing sentiment in favor of temperance if not of prohibition, and greatest of all the economic disadvantages of drink, are all leading the world toward prohibition in practice as well as in legislation.

The economic argument was introduced by Mr. O'Connell after he had told something about the alienation of public sentiment from the open saloon, the passing of the conditions fought by Carrie Nation and the incidental effect of "bad booze" on the palate of the drinker. One of Britain's greatest statesmen, he said in favor of the economic argument, had during the second year of the war pointed out to the government that liquor was costing far more than the war: The "treat" habit was put down as a mistaken form of friendship by Mr. O'Connell. At least ninety-five per cent of all drunkards had started their downward career with their first drink which was purchased at some one else's expense.

Concluding his address Mr. O'Connell urged his audience to take a bold stand on the prohibition question, and to do all they could to see it enforced.

T. Humphries chairman of the Victoria Prohibition Association presided at the meeting and the speaker was introduced to the large gathering present by Rev. R. J. McIntyre of Vancouver, provincial organizer.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1927

Good and evil planetary influences conflict on this last day of November, according to astrology, which reads malefic aspects as dominant.

Although there is a promising sign early in the morning for those who seek employment it is well to defer initiative, if possible.

It is well not to trust one's decisions made under this sway, which tends toward hasty and ill-considered action.

Newspapers and magazines may engage in controversies under this direction of the stars, which encourages confusion of thought.

Labor to-day may be affected by discontent and may be easily persuaded to contemplate the faults of employers.

Saturn is in an aspect menacing to certain branches of industry which may suffer because of enemy propaganda.

Women are subject to favorable influences and should engage in public work, club activities and political affairs while this configuration prevails.

This is read as a happy wedding day, since it presages love that is loyal. Money may be elusive, but the joy will probably outlast economies.

Theatres should benefit from this planetary government which seems to promise new plays that are worthy to endure.

Actors and actresses will profit in the coming year, which is to bring radical changes in motion picture methods as well as theatre management, the seers prophesy.

Again it is announced that the eclipses of next month are held to foreshadow seismic disturbances in the United States.

Atlantic storms of unprecedented violence will mark the Winter, according to astrologers.

Persons whose birthdate it is may reach success in art this year in which friendship will play an important part.

Children born on this day probably will have a decided artistic endowment. Many musicians are born under this sign.

EFFORT TO END COLORADO STRIKE

Denver, Colo., Nov. 29.—In a move to bring about the end of the Colorado coal strike, Northern Colorado coal operators yesterday agreed to abide by any wage decision made by the State Industrial Commission if the striking miners would also agree to be bound by the decision.

Pending further negotiations, the operators said they would deal directly with their men for a temporary agreement for their return to work.

Wee Clowny sat up very proud, for he was glad the Buddy crowd had changed to good from bad, and now was giving him a ride. The little Buddies, kept in step and scampered on, quite full of pep. They surely looked real funny as they traveled, side by side.

Then Clowny cried, "Say, do you know in what direction we should go to reach your cave, where all the other little Tines are?" "Of course we do," one Buddy said. "That's where we're going — straight ahead. Don't start to fret about that now. It isn't very far."

They traveled on till almost noon Then someone said, "Say, pretty soon, I think we'd better eat because I'm hungry as can be." The others cried, "We feel the same. To miss our lunch would be a shame." Then Clowny added, "Let's eat now. It quite appeals to me."

One Buddy promptly had a hunch. Said he: "I'll lead the way to lunch. I've stored some food within a mine, not very far from here. We'll head for there and eat our fill. My food will give you all a thrill." And, as they headed toward the mine, the crowd began to cheer.

It wasn't long until they found a hole that led into the ground. It was a coal mine entrance and 'twas just as black as night. "I'll wait out here," wee Clowny cried, and all the Buddies ran inside. And Clowny sat there, all alone. The bunch was out of sight.

Soon all of them came running back, and, goodness me, but they were black. Someone has taken all our food," one Buddy cried. And then he told wee Clowny, "You will find that we are through with being kind. Now that we've changed from white to black, we'll all be bad again."

The BLUE CAR MYSTERY

By NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

Barlow, his ferret eyes gleaming with excitement, flooded the barn-like structure with light as he switched on the powerful electric bulbs, then climbed into the limousine by the girl's side.

"A pencil, quick," demanded Harriet; "take down the leters as I call them off—D no, no, it's R—"

Half talking to herself, half aware that she addressed another, Harriet scanned page after page, then glanced up at her companion with flashing eyes.

"Come!" she ordered, incoherently, breathing in gasps. "She—he—cannot be far away; they'll surely miss this book. Oh, for God's sake, come!" And she sped into the outer darkness, Barlow at her heels.

CHAPTER XXI

The hunchback was some seconds locating the key to the front door of the Whitney mansion and Terry chafed at the slight delay, but once inside the square hall he hesitated perceptibly.

"Is your mother able to be up or is she still ill in bed?" he asked, tossing his coat and hat on a chair.

Ruggles, more leisurely in his movements, stopped with his overcoat half off. "She came downstairs for a little while this evening." He folded his coat neatly and laid it on top of Terry's. "It is not necessary to disturb her at this hour."

Terry turned on his heel and walked over to the library; it was in total darkness. Wheeling again he strode across the hall into the drawing-room just as Ruggles, who had preceded him, switched on one of the side lights. From the room beyond came faintly the sound of glass touching glass. As Terry started in that direction, John Whitney appeared from the dining-room, a flask in one hand and an empty glass in the other. Breathing unevenly as if from overexertion, white faced, haggard, his unruly gray hair more unkept than usual, John stood and eyed them with drunken gravity; then as his vision cleared somewhat, he recognized Terry and other emotions sobered him. Flinging down the flask and glass, he crossed the room and stopped directly in front of the lawyer.

"The bonds can go hang," he said, in little above a whisper. "But Harriet—what have you done with her?"

"I left her here at dinner time—"

"You lie—damn you!" John's powerful fingers closed and unclosed spasmodically as they crept upward toward Terry's throat.

"Hand off!" Terry's low commanding voice brought the infuriated man partly to his senses. "Has your sister returned since Ruggles," pointing to the hunchback, a fascinated witness of the drama enacted before him, "left here to go to my house?"

John shook his head. "No." Then his voice rose, cracked, "God! where can we find her?"

"In the police station," interposed a quiet voice behind them and turning with one accord, they saw Inspector Mitchell regarding them.

"In the police station?" repeated Terry. 'What d'ye mean? Speak man!" Rushing over he clutched the inspector by the shoulder and shook him as he would a rat.

"Let go, you fool!" Mitchell released himself with some difficulty. "Miss Whitney has been charged with the murder of her uncle."

Terry was the first to break the dead silence.

"On what grounds do you base so preposterous a charge?" he demanded.

"She admitted sending some of the bonds to her mother—" Mitchell paused as he observed Terry's violent start—"secondly," he took from his pocket the dagger and laid it on a near-by table so that all could see it. "This dagger belonged to Miss Whitney and she used it to kill the Commodore."

"She did not." The denial came from John Whitney; his hollow voice barely reached his hearers, his tragic eyes shifted from one white face to another. "I killed—my uncle."

The sibilant whisper echoed and re-echoed in their ears; no man moved. Suddenly, simultaneously, the three men averted their eyes; it seemed unnecessarily cruel to stare at the human wreck before them. In the deathly silence Ruggles caught faintly the swish of a woman's skirts—his mother? The hunchback looked about the drawing-room desperately; no one was there except him and his three companions. Terry, standing on his right, drew in his breath with a short hissing sound.

"Look!" And following his guiding finger, the inspector, the hunchback, and John Whitney stared at the blank wall underneath the one side light turned on in the room. A shadow showed below it, which grew and contracted, twisted and turned, and slowly, very slowly the distinctive profile of Commodore Whitney was entirely visible on the wall.

A piece of burnished steel swished by the inspector's head and sailed through the doorway leading into the central hall. A piercing cry—the tinkling of broken glass—then silence.

With the blood drained from his heart, Terry rushed into the hall, only to recoil an instant later against Inspector Mitchell, at sight of a pair of clasped hands pinned firmly by the dagger to a shattered mirror. At the base of the mirror crouched Mose, his terrified face upturned.

A loud cry came from the staircase where Mrs. Ruggles had collapsed on the bottom step.

"Oh, oh, what does it mean?" she moaned. "I saw those hands waving back and forth in front of the mirror and—now look!" She continued to stare at the white hands, reddened by the blood trickling down them, then suddenly buried her face in her son's arm to shut out the sight.

"Shadow silhouettes!" broke in Inspector Mitchell, as he and Terry assisted Mose to his feet and, as gently as possible, withdrew the dagger. The operation brought beads of moisture on the chauffeur's forhead and a groan to his lips. "I have seen them made by vaudeville artists on the stage, but none more cleverly done than yours, Mose." He aided Terry in binding the wouds with handkerchiefs. "What was your object—to terrify the people in this house?"

A snarl prefaced Mose's reply. "Find out for yourself; I'm going to the hospital." But the chauffeur found his way to the pantry blocked by Harriet Whitney.

"Stop!" she ordered; her eyes shining like twin stars. "Tell them, Mr. Barlow, what we found in the garage," and she stepped aside so that the detective could advance further into the hall. He was still wearing his borrowed chauffeur's uniform, but no one paid any attention to the comical fit of the coat and cap.

"Got you at last, Mose," he exclaimed, exultingly; "thanks to Miss Whitney's quick wit." Barlow turned to his silent audience. "Mose is the leader in the stolen car ring." A muttered oath escaped the chauffeur. "He cloaked his traffic in stolen cars under honest employment, using the Commodore's big garage to house cars overnight while license tags and engine numbers were altered by his confederates, chief among them being Sam Dean at Hyattsville."

"I found a list of names in your favorite code, Mose," supplemented Harriet softly. "In the car in the garage, which we chased this afternoon," turning to Terry, "with its license tag number cleverly altered from 9-130 to 130 by means of adhesive tape, the color of the tag. Mr. Barlow joined me in the garage and with his assistance, we decided some of this," she displayed a small memorandum book as Mose's bandaged hand went involuntarily to the empty inside pocket of his coat. "How did you come to follow me to Walter Reed this afternoon?"

"The boy admitted dropping the oranges and described you." Mose sat down on a chair; he was growing conscious of a feeling of deadly weakness. "I had to have the message and tried to catch you at the Cathedral. The code was one worked out by Commodore Whitney sometime when he wasn't busy, and he showed it to me. I never thought you would guess it, Miss Whitney—I—" he hesitated. "I used it on your mirror and on Mr. Terry's car just to scare you."

"For the same reason that you used your ability with your hands to throw pictures of poor Uncle Jim on the wall," broke in Harriet shrewdly; "to make us leave the house so you could find the one hundred thousand dollars in negotiable bonds?"

For the first time Mose grinned. "Sure, I wanted to cop the coin and make a get-away," he admitted. "I overheard the Commodore and Mr. Terry talking about the bonds on New Year's eve—"

"And so you murdered him!" The exclamation leaped from Harriet's trembling lips, but the eager light in her eyes turned to agony as her brother broke the painful silence.

"No, sister, I killed Uncle Jim." He stooped and kissed her as she clung to him, shaking from head to foot with tearless sobs. "I had permission to spend New Year's eve with Ned Terry, and so after a party given for Walter Reed boys, we drove around town to see the old year out, then Ned brought me here. I knew Uncle Jim sat up in his library until all hours of the morning, and going into the garden I saw a light burning and Uncle Jim standing in one of the big French windows. He let me in and I asked him to let me have some money—and—and—" He threw his hand across his eyes as if to shut out some frightful vision. "When I came to my senses, Uncle Jim lay there on the floor in front of me, dead."

Mrs. Ruggles was the first to speak. 'I found your permit from the hospital authorities granting you leave to stay all night in Washington, and a half-finished letter to Mr. Terry," she admitted, "when I went through your bundle to-night, John, and I realized I held the key to the Commodore's murder in my hands."

"Is that so?" Mose spoke with sneering emphasis, his detestation of the housekeeper getting the upper hand. "I'll tell you what really happened in the library, for I was there hiding behind one of the long window curtains waiting for the Commodore to go to bed so that I could get the bonds. Come this way—"

With one accord they trooped after him into the library which Barlow flooded with light.

"You sat in that chair there, writing at the table," began Mose, and John nodded.

"Yes; I had just scrawled 'I promise to pay,' when Uncle Jim, who stood looking down, yelled something and tore a corner of the paper from me," he added.

"Just so," declared the chauffeur. "The Commodore yelled, 'I kill,' his hand went to his coat pocket, he tugged at something, and then—and then—I saw a dagger sail through the air—it struck the Commodore fair in the heart and he dropped backwards, dead."

John Whitney gazed at Mose in petrified silence for one long second. 'Do you mean that I didn't stab Uncle Jim?" he roared.

"Yes—You were still sitting in that chair and the dagger sailed over your left shoulder. I couldn't see who threw it." Mose pointed an accusing finger at Mrs. Ruggles. "You were here that night and not in Baltimore."

With cheeks entirely ashen, Mrs. Ruggles faced her accuser. "I went to Baltimore," she spoke in odd jerks, her ice cold hands clinging to her son. 'By chance I met my sister in the station there—she had been called unexpectedly to Chicago. I did my errands in Baltimore and returned to Washington by a late train," she broke down, then by a great effort continued her narrative. "I decided to spend the night in my son's apartment—"

Mose whirled on the hunchback. "Did she?"

Young Ruggles looked at his tormentor. "I was not there, but here." A terrified scream broke from his mother. "Hush, dear!" He laid his hand tenderly on her bowed head. "I did kill Commodore Whitney as Mose has described to save John Whitney's life."

"What?" Inspector Mitchell drew a step nearer; he was the only one to move in the horror-stricken group.

LETTER GOLF

NOW, GIRLS!

The GIRLS aren't SILLY any more; it's the men who are silly about them. Go from SILLY to GIRLS in three changes, if you can. A par solution is printed on page 18.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change "COW" TO "HEN" in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Rolling Cricket

(Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along a snowy path in the woods, wondering when he would have an adventure, all of a sudden the rabbit gentleman saw, rolling along in front of him, a large walnut.

"Ha! That is very queer!" exclaimed Mr. Longears, twinkling his pink nose to keep it warm, for the weather was cold. "That is very queer to see a walnut rolling along the path. I suppose the wind is blowing it."

But when he looked up at the bare branches of the trees they were not moving in the wind. Nor were the branches of the evergreen Christmas trees making any motions to the wind. For there was no wind.

"Then how it is that the nut is rolling?" the bunny uncle asked himself. "If there is no wind to blow it, what makes it move?"

The nut was certainly rolling along, for while it had been close to an old stump when Uncle Wiggily first noticed it, now the nut was at the side of a stone sticking out of the snow.

"This certainly is very queer," said the rabbit, twinkling his pink nose harder than ever, as if that might solve the puzzle. "Why does that nut roll along? There is no wind to blow it, so it must be sliding down hill and rolling that way."

But the path was level and straight—no hill was near and yet the nut rolled along. And as Uncle Wiggily watched it, suddenly a little piece of bark, like a cork in a bottle, was pulled from one side of the nut and a hole showed where the bark cork had been.

Then, out of this hole, a cute little head was thrust, a small, black head, and a tiny voice said:

"Oh, dear! I'm not there yet! There is still cold and snow all around. I must roll some more."

There was a movement as if the bark cork was going to be plugged into the hole again, when Uncle Wiggily called out:

"One moment, please! Who is inside that nut rolling along?"

"I am!" answered the tiny voice and the head was thrust farther out of the hole, so that Mr. Longears could see that it belonged to a black cricket. "I live in the nut and rolling along trying to find a warm, sunny land to live in. I don't like Winter," chirped the cricket.

"No, Winter isn't intended for you crickets," said the bunny. "But I never before saw a cricket rolling along in a nut shell. How does it happen that you are doing such a queer thing?"

"Well, I'll tell you," chirped the cricket. "But do you mind if I pull my head in? I am afraid—a—excuse me-a-ker-choo—I am afraid I am catching cold—ker-zoo!"

"I think you are catching cold!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Pull your head inside the shell by all means. But leave the hole open, if you won't freeze, and tell me why you are doing such a queer thing."

"It's like this," explained the cricket, snuggling down inside the nut-shell, but speaking through the hole. "When Summer began to go and Fall came, and I knew cold weather would soon be here, I did not want to die, as many of my cricket friends do, nor did I want to bury myself down in the ground, as some do. So I decided to travel to some warm land in the South, where it is always Summer.

"So I started to hop, but it was farther than I thought and, before I knew it, the nights grew very cold. My legs became so stiff I could hardly hop, even though it was warm in the middle of the day. So I found this empty nut shell—I suppose Johnny and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, ate the meat out—I found this empty shell and I crawled inside, fastening the two halves together with sticky gum from the pine tree. There was a little hole in one side which gave me air to breathe and when it got too cold I stopped the hole with a piece of bark."

"And have you been jiggling yourself inside that nut, and so making it roll along, ever sice?" asked Mr. Longears.

"That is what I've been doing," chirped the cricket. "I am snug and warm in here. I roll along in my nut each day but I fear I shall never reach the warm Southland. Oh, dear! What am I to do?"

Uncle Wiggily thought for a moment and said:

"I will tell you!" But just then, all of a sudden there was a strang rustling sound in the bushes near by and the bunny wondered what was going to happen to him and the rolling cricket. And what did happen you shall hear in the next story, which will be called Uncle Wiggily's alarm clock cricket—that is if the corkscrew doesn' pull all the teeth out of the comb to make them bite the hairbrush.

EVEREADY HOUR

It goes almost without saying that Tuesday evening from 9 to 10 o'clock brings the Eveready Hour, presented to Pacific Coast Network listeners by the National Carbon Company. The Eveready orchestra, with Max Dolin directing, will offer in addition to latedance hits and popular ballads, new arrangements of classic concert pieces in their original rytfim and form. O. HENRY STORY

"One Dollar's Worth," by O. Henry, will bep resented in dramatized form by the National Players over the Pacific Coast Network this evening, from 10 to 11 o'clock. This retold tale is a Texas borderland story of counterfeiting, sharp shooting, law and love. A young district attorney thinks of nothing but enforcing the law, until his own life's happiness is jeopardized. This makes him suddenly see that all humns are brothers under the skin and that even a Mexican girl's love should be recognized as sacred. You will learn what "One Dollar's Worth" of love is when presented by the National Players.

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If the name Bayer appears, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Aspirin—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) indicating Bayer Manufacture. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assure the public against imitations, the Tablets will be stamped with their "Bayer Cross" trademark.

TWENTY-ONE ARE GIVEN LEAVE OF ABSENCE BY CITY

One Month's Salary With Pay Granted to Long Service Employees

Further Compromise Necessary on Superannuation Scheme, City Discovers

Twenty-one members of the city's services, ranging in years from fifty-five to seventy-five, will be granted leave of absence for the month of December with full pay, and will be included on the superannuation scheme to be ready for the city at the end of the year, the City Council decided last night on the recommendation of the civic service committee.

COMPROMISE NECESSARY

The council found, on figures presented by D. A. Macdonald, City Comptroller, that the proposed increase in superannuation benefits to its oldest workers, outlined at the last meeting, would be beyond the city's purse, and that some compromise of the offer made by the city would have to be effected.

The issue affects the rate at which pre-pension service is to be rewarded. Under the Provincial Superannuation Act city employees would receive an additional bonus of one seventy-fifth of their average salary multiplied by the number of years in service.

The City Council at its last meeting offered to make this fraction one-fiftieth, or doubling the percentage of benefit derived from this pre-pensionable service. Now it is found that at the one-fiftieth rating the cost to the city would be far in excess of that estimated.

To overcome that difficulty and preserve faith with the employees the council voted, on a division of seven to three, to call city employees in all groups together again, explain the dilemma, and offer one sixty-fifth as the proportion of the average salary to be multiplied by the years of service. While this would give a smaller pension than the other proposal, it would be larger than the employees could receive under the Provincial Superannuation Act, it was explained.

TO MEET EMPLOYEES

Aldermen William Marchant, John Harvey, and R. A. C. Dewar stood out for a ratification of the sliding scale, offering the higher benefits in respect to pre-pensionable service. Aldermen E. S. Woodward, P. R. Brown, J. B. Clearihue, James Adam, H. O. Litchfield, H. C. Holmes and J. L. Mara agreed that a mistake had been made, and voted to meet the employees again with a detailed explanation of the facts. Meanwhile this section of the by-law is held up and the whole measure tabled. Aldermen Woodward, Litchfield and Holmes were appointed a committee to act with the council in laying the change before the employees afresh.

Alderman Marchant washed his hands of the council's decision to lessen its offer and ceded chairmanship of the special committee for this purpose to Alderman Woodward.

Mr. Woodward, pointing out that employees would still receive materially more than under the government act, in addition to the month's salary with pay, thought the council's attitude, in the light of the tabulated figures of Mr. Macdonald, would be understood and appreciated.

Assuming the 400 employees of the city were in the service for forty years each, and at a flat salary of $100 a month, the cost of superannuation in respect to this list would be in excess of $2,000,000, said Alderman Holmes, if the city tried to substitute one-fiftieth for the one seventy-fifth mentioned in the first draft of the by-law.

The annual cost of the government scheme would be $29,000 to the city. The cost of the city plan would be between $22,500 and $15,000 a year, depending on the percentage of former salary allowed for non-pensionable service. Under the city plan at the ratio of one sixty-fifth the employees would receive more than would be payable to them under the government scheme, it was stated.

After heated discussion the council voted on division to refer the issue again to the employees, with the figures of the city comptroller in support of the request for the compromise.

An employee aged sixty who had been on an average salary of $100 a month would receive under the government plan $13.33 a month for ten years' service, and $15.38 a month under the city compromise. For twenty years' service he would receive $26.66 a month under government plan, and $30 a month under the city plan, this including the pre-pensionable service benefits. At the start of the scheme all service would be in this class, and the burden the heavier in consequence on the city, it was shown.

FIREMEN PROMOTED

The promotion to lieutenants of J. Crowther and F. Guy in the Fire Department was ratified by the council, on the recommendation of the civic service committee. J. Law and R. Behnsen were appointed firemen on probation, subject to the regular medical examination required.

In future all civic appointments will be contingent upon medical examination, the council agreed.

The following employees were given one month's leave of absence from December 1 with pay prior to superannuation: Waterworks, T. Bayley; Fire Department, F. L. Henry and W. G. MILITARY INSTITUTE WILL BE ORGANIZED

Circular Calls Meeting Thursday Night to Form Officers' Forum on Island

Organization of a forum, for discussion, explanation and review of military affairs on Vancouver Island will take place immediately as the result of a circular now being sent around the city.

The pamphlet which is signed by prominent military officers now serving as well as by those on the reserve and retired list is regarded as the final step towards the formation of a Military Institute for Victoria and Island.

The circular is as follows:

"1. We, the undersigned, are of the opinion that the time is opportune for the formation of a United Services Institution, membership of which will be open to active, reserve and retired officers of His Majesty's services, resident on Vancouver Island.

"2. The objects of the institution will be to provide a forum for discussion, explanation and review of military affairs and, in addition, to afford members the opportunity to come together from time to time to renew old associations.

"3. It is proposed that the objects set forth above will be accomplished by holding occasional meetings during the Autumn and Winter seasons at which addresses will be given on matters of general interest pertaining to the services.

"4. It is thought that the activities of the institution could be met by the payment of a small annual subscription of say, $2 per annum.

"5. A general meeting to organize the institution will be held at the rooms of the Canadian Legion, Courtney Street, Victoria, at 8.15 p.m. Thursday, December 1, which, it is hoped, you will find it possible to attend."

DEAN ASKS CITY TO PAY FOR MEETING

Mayoralty Candidates Offers Alternative to Divide Costs With Mayor

The city should pay the cost of his election meeting at the Royal Victoria Theatre on November 30, amounting to $300, John Dean submitted by letter to the City Council last night. Mr. Dean, who is a candidate for the mayoralty, enclosed a further list of ten questions to which he wants answers. The first list of twenty-seven questions submitted to the city, and which entailed a special research, had now been paid for though the replies were not satisfactory, the writer stated. Mr. Dean invited Mayor Pendray, alternatively, to pay half the cost of the meeting on November 30, and to speak for forty-five minutes. He had already given an account of his stewardship at a public meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, and at which every candidate for civic office had been invited to speak, replied Mayor Pendray, adding that he did not propose to debate further with Mr. Dean the issue of the thirty-seven questions. He had in addition accepted an invitation to address the Vancouver Publicity Bureau on the night of November 30, and saw no reason to change his plans, concluded. His Worship.

INTERESTING LECTURE ON BIBLE GIVEN BY REV. NELSON HARKNESS

A very interesting and instructive lecture was given by Rev. Nelson Harkness last evening at the Memorial Hall on the subject of the source and development of the Bible as it is to-day.

Dean Quainton was in the chair and welcomed Mr. Harkness, whose valuable work for the British and Foreign Bible Society is well-known in British Columbia. After prayer by Rev. Henry Knox, Mr. Harkness gave much interesting information regarding the widespread distribution of the Bible which has now been translated into 598 different languages, and has reached a circulation far outdistancing any other book.

The lantern slides illustrated the gradual development of sacred writings, some wonderful scrolls and the marvelous Rosetta stone being shown, as well as pages of the earliest translations of the Bible from the Vulgate into the English language. The invention of printing facilitated the distribution of copies of the Bible among the common people, and pictures of the various efforts to destroy the books were shown, also portraits of the intrepid translators, and the scenes of their labors. Beautiful old Hampton Court, Magdalen College, Oxford, Cambridge colleges and old churches and cathedrals, with many other interesting scenes were shown and described by the lecturer in a very instructive way.

The Dean expressed the thanks of all present to Mr. Harkness, and suggested that those requiring further information should obtain the book "How We Got Our Bible," by Bishop Patterson Smith, which is a mine of information on the subject.

The annual meeting of the B.C. Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, shortly to be held in Victoria, will afford an opportunity to extend the interest of the general public in the valuable work of the society. After taking a collection the meeting closed with the Doxology.

Ancient Russian City is Discovered

Viazniki, Vladimir Province, Russia, Nov. 29.—A paleontological expedition operating in this province reports the discovery of a large ancient city surrounded by high earth walls and deep trenches, believed to have existed in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries.

The city was situated on the high banks of the Kliasma River, in a region where human settlements date since the fourteenth century.

Scientists believe the city to have been ransacked and destroyed during the first Tartar invasion of Russia in the twelfth century.
